Gas Rationing Creates City Bus Jam

TRANSIT FIRM SEES BIGGER PUZZLE AHEAD

Hundreds Leave Cars at Home on First Day of Curtailed Sale of Gasoline.

BUS SYSTEM STRAINED

Deadline Limit Ordered on Special Transfers For School Pupils.

First day of gasoline rationing brought on a major transportation problem for Mansfield as hundreds of auto owners left their cars at home and rode down town by bus—if they could find one with seats available.

The Mansfield Rapid Transit company had 19 buses in operation to carry peak loads in the morning rush period. All were crowded to the doors by the time they reached down town destinations.

"The rationing program has put a great strain on the entire system," G. F. VanTilburg, Transit superintendent, admitted. "Twelve buses are in operation throughout the day and early evening but seven additional are available for use on busy routes between 6 and 8 a. m."

VanTilburg added that the problem will become more complex in the future when more auto owners refrain from driving. He pointed out that many filled up their gas tanks yesterday and probably will use their cars for the next few days.

"We are not permitted to purchase additional buses. If Mansfield had a major war plant, that restriction would be lifted and we could obtain additional ones. Of course, a major war plant and the more workers it would involve, would create a problem, too."

If the future results in more congestion, the only solution will be fewer bus stops, he said. If down town shoppers do their business between the hours of 9 a. m. and 3 p. m., it would help considerably to ease the situation.

School children will be required (Continued on Page 3, Col. 5)

Resignation Of Defense Chief In Hands Of Board

The resignation of Ray Hout as chairman of Richland County Council of Defense, was formally submitted to county commissioners yesterday but no formal action regarding its acceptance had been taken by officials as yet today. The resignation became effective yesterday.

Hout's last official act before leaving the chairmanship because the state defense council did not recognize the Civil Air Patrol maintained at municipal airport as an integral part of this area's defense was the appointment of Rev. H. S. Garnes, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran church, as radio aid in the war emergency radio service. The latter's duty entails direction of short wave civilian defense emergency broadcasts.

In his resignation Hout pointed out that Ralph H. Stone, state director of defense, had reversed himself regarding Stone's earlier approval of appropriation of $1,615.26 from the county's defense funds for airport improvement. Stone now contends the appropriation was "unjustified." Hout said the appropriation still stands, holding it "one of the most worthwhile expenditures there has been."

Bags 70,000 Tons of Jap Sea Strength

American Sub Skipper Comes Home With Heroic Story.

(By International News Service)

PEARL HARBOR — Witness to a Sunday horse-race outside a leading Japanese city and justly proud of his "bag" of 12 enemy merchant ships sunk or damaged, an American submarine commander relaxed at Pearl Harbor today and re-lived for correspondents an astonishing story of the sea.

He was Lieut. Commander Thomas D. Klakring of Annapolis, officially credited with sinking 70,000 tons of Japanese shipping which makes him top man in America's Pacific undersea fleet.

Safely back in port for overhauling of his craft, Commander Klakring told modestly how he had raised havoc with the enemy within shouting distance of the Japanese shore.

For the benefit of his crew deep in the bowels of his "pigboat" he set up a loud-speaker system to describe the various torpedoings and even let them take turns at the periscope—a hitherto unheard of privilege.

Eight Japanese ships definitely sunk and four others damaged, with a troop transport that may have been loaded with enemy soldiers among the kill, represented the fruits of Klakring's Pacific sortie.

He and his crew told of chasing one Japanese convoy directly into a Nipponese harbor, where all relaxed from war chores on a sunny afternoon to watch a horse race through binoculars.

Bets were laid in due fashion, but in spite of sharp eyes and good lenses, the winner could not be spotted.

"We bet on the ponies," Commander Klakring said somewhat ruefully. "But we were just a little too far away to see who won."

Pearl Harbor has feted many heroes in the almost-a-year since Japan started the war by attacking this Hawaiian base. But Klakring's sea saga just about rang the bell all around.

One enemy ship was torpedoed in a Japanese harbor, and four (Continued on Page 3, Col. 2)

FDR Favors Income Limit on Investments, Report.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Roosevelt plans to ask the new congress to extend the $25,000 net salary limitations to investment income, beginning in 1943.

An informed official who could not be quoted by name said today the president believed that all types of earnings should be limited for the duration but had omitted investment income from his executive order because he was informed the wage stabilization act gave him no authority in that field.

Despite criticisms in congress, the president was expected to recommend that the problem be handled through taxation in the next revenue bill, thus bringing the whole question squarely before congress.

3-Year-Old Warning To Night Club Bared

Fire Hazards Pointed Out; Given Clean Bill Last Week.

BULLETIN

BOSTON —(U.P.)— The Boston licensing board, on recommendation of Gov. Leverett Saltonstall, today suspended the licenses of all night clubs, taverns and other entertainment resorts pending the outcome of the Cocoanut Grove holocaust investigation.

(By International News Service)

BOSTON — Three years ago the Cocoanut Grove was branded a "tinder box" with very bad exits, but only a week before it was swept by fire which claimed 449 lives it was termed in good condition by a Boston fire department inspector.

This was disclosed today by one of the four agencies investigating the week-end holocaust with a definite pledge that any criminal negligence will be prosecuted.

Responsible officials expect the death toll, revised downward as a result of an official recheck, to soar toward the 500 mark as several of the 172 persons still in hospitals are in a critical condition and not expected to live.

Testimony at an inquest revealed that in its inspection a week ago the Boston fire department decided that no inflammable decorations existed in the swanky night club and that there were sufficient exits and fire extinguishers.

PEARL HARBOR TALE COMING UP

OWI To Tell Details of Jap Attack on Its Anniversary.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox said today that the "full story" of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor will be released by the Office of War Information on the Dec. 7 anniversary.

"Will it be a complete disclosure?" he was asked.

"No," he replied.

He explained that there were still certain facts the Japanese would like to know, and the navy is not going to tell the enemy about them—yet.

STANLEY TOMASZEWSKI

BODY AWAITED

Remains of Mansfield Fire Victim Still in Boston.

Although preparations were under way today to return the body of Howard A. Guy, 37, Mansfield victim of the Boston night club fire, to the Wappner funeral home here for services, the body is not expected to arrive for several days.

The funeral home here has wired for the release of the body, but had received no reply at noon today. Overcrowding of funeral homes and morgues in Boston and the general confusion which followed the catastrophe probably will delay release of the body, it was said.

The victim was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Guy, 136 Sturgess avenue, was a pianist employed in the Melody lounge of the Cocoanut Grove club.

VETERAN TEACHER DIES

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—Thomas C. Maxwell, 73, former head of the mathematics department of old McKinley high school in Canton, died yesterday.

CONTINUE CHECK OF NIGHT SPOTS

Firemen Report No Hazards Uncovered as Yet But Keep on Going.

Rigid inspections of Mansfield night clubs and amusement centers thus far have revealed no fire hazards, according to Fire Chief Charles J. Seeburger, but inspectors are continuing the cellar-to-attic probes to avert any local replica of the Boston night club tragedy.

Declaring that the second floor ceiling of a downtown third-floor night club is of fireproofed cloth texture, Seeburger announced that the proprietor acted within state fire code regulations when he installed the material to hide bare rafters.

Seeburger's investigation of conditions today followed an inspection yesterday by Fireman Ray Underwood. Otherwise, Seeburger said, the club has the required number of exits.

Firemen Leo Jones today continued inspection of clubs and other places of public assembly. Generally, the inspectors told Chief Seeburger, night clubs are eliminating holiday decorations and that places employing artificial adornment are avoiding use of inflamable material.

Seeburger was advised by Grattan Johnson, manager of Warner Brothers theaters here, that the Ohio, Majestic and Madison theaters are being rigidly inspected this week in addition to the routine weekly search for fire hazards.

Other theaters indicated that "basement to belfry" inspections were being made at their auditoriums. All Ohio Chambers of Commerce were urged today by George B. Chandler, executive vice president of the Ohio chamber, to demand inspection of all night clubs and amusement halls.

CHIEF AIMS AT OPERATION OF BINGO 'CLUBS'

Instructs Officers To Get Warrants, Let Courts Decide Validity.

BANS MONEY BOARDS

Chief, Admitting Gambling's 'Tough Nut,' Takes New Steps to Curb It.

With "tip" sheets, coin-award punch boards and other gambling devices paying cash ordered out of operation yesterday, Police Chief Thomas M. Bell today ordered police to obtain warrants for the arrest of bingo game operators and the seizure of gaming tables and other equipment.

"Hereafter the courts will have to decide if bingo or other games are sponsored by regularly chartered or incorporated clubs," Chief Bell declared. He called attention to city ordinances which empower police to break down doors and to confiscate and destroy gambling equipment.

"I'm tired of false claims of club operation and whatnot," Chief Bell continued, "I know gambling in all its ramifications is a tough nut to crack. I've never knowingly given my consent to anyone to violate the law. I'd rather quit while trying to enforce the law than to quit without trying.

"There may be efforts to dislodge me but so long as I'm in the saddle I'll do my own riding."

Chief Bell did not elaborate on who might resent his anti-gambling declarations.

Today's edict followed Saturday night bingo operations at the Playtime, 211 Park avenue east, and Radio City hall, in the basement of 64 North Walnut street. Chief Bell had been told the Townsend club would meet at the latter place Saturday night but was irked by reports that the crowds attending were in proportions of a "tri-state convention" and that the number calling was heard out on the street.

Police yesterday were detailed to visit all newsstands and other places selling tip sheets carrying cash awards to warn against their continuance. Restaurants and other businesses displaying cash- (Continued on Page 3, Col. 2)

Yule Savings Club Members Receive $200,000.

Christmas checks totalling nearly $200,000 were being delivered by mailmen today to members of Christmas Savings clubs of four Mansfield banks.

While this year's figures were, in most cases, slightly under those of last year, all banks reported that a majority of the accounts had been paid in full.

Officials of the banks stated today they believed the total was smaller this year due to the purchase of War bonds.

Hitler Appeals For Nazi Stand To Hold Rzhev

Reds Continue To Beat Off Nazis' Counter Attack Against Lines.

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW — Adolf Hitler's own appeal was reported today to be spurring the Nazis in a desperate but unsuccessful fight to recapture railway lines south of Rzhev and southwest of Velikie Luki on the central Russian front west of Moscow.

So vital is Rzhev to the Germans' vast network of communications, said Red Star, that Hitler telegraphed his commander there emphasizing the threat to the city and warning that "the loss of Rzhev is equal to the loss of half of Berlin."

Every thrust in a new series of counter-attacks was beaten off, the army newspaper said.

Axis troops trapped before Stalingrad also were counter-attacking, but there, too, Russian reports said, stiffening German resistance had failed to stem the Red army's drives.

With another 2,500 invaders listed by the noon communique as killed in overnight fighting, Red Star said German losses in dead were close to 125,000 on the two fronts. (The toll announced in communiques so far, however, totaled only 91,550.)

Within Stalingrad itself, the Soviet garrison was said to be making slow but steady progress in heavy fighting.

Northwest of Stalingrad, German transport planes were said to have dropped food and munitions to encircled garrisons.

The Russians said Nazi officers were trying to conceal from their men that they were cut off. However, these probably were isolated —though strong— enemy units, and Soviet dispatches did not intimate that the whole enemy army had been surrounded between the Volga and the Don.

Snow and fog hampered air operations in that area.

The Germans were reported to have developed fortifications in great depth to wall off Rzhev, but the Red army was said to be penetrating them with artillery (Continued on Page 3, Col. 3)

Drive To Cut Off Land Route To Tripoli Gains More Ground.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Allied columns, striking across Tunisia under skies being rapidly cleared of the enemy air force, steadily are lengthening two wedges aimed at separating Axis forces in Tunis and Bizerte and cutting them off from their last land route to Tripoli, it was announced at Allied headquarters in North Africa.

One British and American force was reported today stabbing close to the coast, only a few miles short of its goal of severing the last highway communication left to the enemy garrisons at Bizerte and Tunis.

Another force of Americans and Free Frenchmen was plunging toward the coast farther to the south in a race to seize the Tunis-Tripoli road skirting the Mediterranean shore in east central Tunisia.

Allied air strength is mounting by the hour, it was reported authoritatively, and the German air force was declared on the downgrade after being soundly thrashed in clashes thus far with Allied airmen.

Despite the growing Allied command of the air, this source, who could not be identified by name, stressed that much bitter fighting still is expected before the Germans and Italians finally are thrown out of North Africa.

Bizerte got its usual shower of Allied bombs overnight, the Algiers radio announced, with docks of the sprawling naval base the chief target. Four German planes were destroyed and one Allied craft was lost.

Continuing their aerial assaults on the other end of the Axis Mediterranean supply line, the British announced new raids against Sicily and an enemy merchant ship was reported hit yesterday off the island of Pantelleria, between Tunis and Sicily.

AGGRAVATED: Mussolini Reported To Be Seriously Ill

(By United Press)

LONDON—Continental reports reaching unofficial quarters in London today said that Premier Benito Mussolini was seriously ill, further aggravating the already tense Italian war situation.

The reports had no official confirmation but said that il duce had been confined to bed for two weeks. The nature of his ailment was not disclosed but it was described as serious. It had been reported intermittently for several years that Mussolini was suffering from a chronic heart ailment.

A grave illness for Mussolini at this time would strike Italy at a critical hour now that it has been officially singled out as the target of an expected Allied offensive.

Reports on conditions within Italy since the opening of the African offensive have left little or no doubt that morale is deteriorating sharply and there have been increasing signs of Nazi concern over the weak link in the Axis partnership.

Should illness or death remove Mussolini from active leadership at this time the results might, it was said, prove so far-reaching as to provide the determining factor in any Allied offensive to knock Italy out of the war.

Northern Italy is already under heavy RAF bombardment—an attack so heavy that reports from some European quarters assert that panic and nervousness are (Continued on Page 3, Col. 7)

SMASH: Aussies Split Jap Garrison On New Guinea Beach

(By International News Service)

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA—Allied troops in southeast New Guinea have smashed their way onto the beach between Gona and Buna to split the Japanese garrisons holding out against Australian and American forces on the coast, an official communique disclosed today.

(A Reuter dispatch from an advanced base in New Guinea said that Australian troops, rushing ahead in the face of machine-gun fire, had gained a position from which they are now ready for a final assault on the sole remaining position in the Gona area.)

The 15-mile Jap communication line between Gona and Sanananda was cut when the Allies reached the beach area southeast of Gona and north of Buna.

The communique from Allied headquarters related that fighting in the coastal area was growing increasingly more intense but said that the Americans and Australians were pressing slowly forward.

Fighting was said to be in progress within 100 yards of the Jap base at Gona.

A dogfight over the battle area resulted in the destruction of seven Japanese Zero fighter planes out of a force of 12. Two Allied planes were shot down but the pilots parachuted to safety.

The heaviest ground fighting, (Continued on Page 3, Col. 4)

Air Raid Sirens to Scream Reminder Of Pearl Harbor, Bond Sale Campaign

Plans Are Completed for City-Wide Alert at 7 P. M. Sunday.

Screaming air raid sirens Sunday evening and Monday noon, vividly recalling the horror of Japan's surprise attack on Hawaii one year ago, will inspire Mansfielders to Remember Pearl Harbor—and Buy Bonds.

Plans were completed last night by civilian defense leaders for the test mobilization of all protective units when an alert is sounded at 7 p. m. Sunday to launch distribution of bond-buying pledges to every home, hotel or other residence in Mansfield and suburban area.

An "all clear" signal will be sounded only after all sector posts report to a full-staffed control center in City Hall that contact has been gained with every prospective purchaser in the area.

Joining of the bond-buying offensive will be announced by a commemorative air raid alert at 12:25 p. m. Monday and the all-clear signal which will follow a two-minute tribute of silence designed as a memorial to those who died at Pearl Harbor and since.

Banks and other bond-selling depots will devote the afternoon to receiving the bond-buying pledges, 12,000 in all, which will be distributed Sunday evening. The News-Journal of Dec. 13, carrying the name of every Mansfield purchaser, will be (Continued on Page 3, Col. 6)

Pitfalls of Love

(A sequel to Marriage Meddlers)
By ADELE GARRISON

If eyes could glare and goggle at the same time, those of Georges certainly were performing that feat as he realized that Mary was at the door and that I intended to admit her.

"You can't do this to me, Aunt Madge!" he said desperately. "I can't let her see me with this awful beard and wig!"

"What nonsense, Georges!" I said airily. "She has seen you repeatedly in that disguise at the restaurant."

"But—but—" he fairly stammered, "she didn't know who I was. She thought me an old man. If she finds out now, she will laugh, and I couldn't stand it to have Mary laugh at me."

His appeal failed, for there was nothing I wished more than for Mary to carry away a memory of Georges in this ridiculous guise. It would be an effective antidote, I reasoned, for any romantic interest which might arise from the reappearance of this exiled king who was once her devoted suitor.

Madge's Deceit.

"Why should she recognize you now?" I asked coolly.

"You mean you wouldn't tell her?" he asked hopefully. Standing at the door now, I raised my voice as Mary knocked more imperatively.

"Coming!" I called, then turned back to Georges.

"What reason would I have for telling her?" I parried. As I opened the door my back was toward Georges, and he could not see the signal I gave Mary, which she knew meant: "Have me come outside for a minute!"

"'Lo, Auntie Madge!" she said. "I only can stay a minute or two, but come outside first and look out this window at the end of the corridor. I want to know what you make of it."

Confides In Mary.

Then I shut the door, so he could not hear her rejoinder, and spoke prison fashion close to her ear. "The old man of the cafe is inside," I said. "He is King Georges of Trees, in disguise."

"Georges!" she exclaimed. "Well, I am not much surprised. I've thought several times that lad might be behind those whiskers."

"I've perjured myself," I told her. "Although I did not promise not to reveal his identity to you, I let him believe I had no reason to do so. But I do have a reason for what I shall ask you, and sometime I'll explain it to you. I want you to come in with me and meet Georges as if you thought him to be what he appears to be, then study him furtively, and after awhile blurt out your recognition of him. I can leave it to you to put on an artistic performance."

"It's a lousy trick, Auntie Madge, if you ask me," she said, "even if you are pulling it. But I know you don't do things without reason, and so I'm game to go through with the stunt. But I don't like it, although," she added surprisingly, "it may be a good thing after all."

"I'll take all the disapproving thoughts to heart," I told her smiling, "if you'll just do what I have asked."

"I'll do that, all right," she said. "Lead on, MacDuff!"

I unlocked the door and Mary followed me in. Georges rose to his feet with stately courtesy as we entered. He had put on again his disfiguring dark glasses, and the deferentially humble attitude he had shown at the restaurant.

"This is the gentleman we met at the restaurant, Mary," I said. "He has not yet told me his name."

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, December 2.

An interesting development is noted in this day's astral forecast: a fairly moderate and ambitious project or proposition seems to gain momentum as it goes along, pushed by sound judgment, concentrated energy and enterprising rising, in most gratifying activity, to heights sudden, unforeseen and quite breath-taking or dramatic in its final denouement. This may involve quick change in plans or even environs.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a sudden break or sudden and surprising visitation, which may have the effect of turning mediocre operations into most encouraging climax of progress, productiveness and ultimate dramatic achievement. The unexpected intervention of expanding forces, of powerful and influential persons or institutions, seems imminent. This may demand change of plans, probably also of place. With these bold methods be alert to peculiar twists or intriguing undercurrents.

A child born on this day may have excellent talents, skill and ingenuity, as well as good judgment, tact and subtlety.

"The Authority on Authorities"

KNOW THE RIGHT WAY

Many pretty good social players misplay the kind of suit in which the queen and jack are opposite the ace, one of those holdings containing a total of three cards and the other four. When both the king and ten are held by the opponents, your best chance for three tricks in the suit is not by leading the queen or jack—as most social players do—but in leading a small card from the ace toward the other honors. Many a game depends upon playing such a suit right, especially at No Trumps.

Private Philip Ambramsohn, winner of many championships in the past, and now gaining honors with Uncle Sam's Army, made his game on this Metropolitan Championship deal by doing everything right, and watching everything that came into view. He won the spade 10 lead with the Q, and immediately launched the heart suit correctly. Notice that it could not produce three tricks by starting with a Q lead, even if North had the K. Well, he led the 4 to the Q, sent the club 5 to the Q when North ducked, and called the heart 5 from dummy.

South came in with the K and returned the spade J to the A. The heart J scored, diamond 6 went to the K, the heart A scored the third trick in the suit, and the diamond A won. North having discarded a club, a diamond and a spade on hearts, the soldier now had him counted as having a 4-4-4-1 distribution originally, hence the spake K, diamond Q and club A-J remaining. He himself held the diamond 10-7 and the club K-9.

He expertly threw North in with the diamond 10 to the Q. North also cashed his spade K, but then had only his club A-J left, so had to give the game trick to Private Abramsohn by leading to the club K for the last trick, which made game. It was a neat endplay which would have been impossible for game if the hearts had been mauled.

Pull the Trigger on Constipation, with Ease for Stomach, too

When constipation brings on discomfort after meals, stomach upset, bloating, dizzy spells, gas, coated tongue, and bad breath, your stomach is probably "crying the blues" because your bowels don't move. It calls for Laxative-Senna to pull the trigger on those lazy bowels, combined with Syrup Pepsin for perfect ease to your stomach in taking. For years, many Doctors have given pepsin preparations in their prescriptions to make medicine more agreeable to a touchy stomach. So be sure your laxative contains Syrup Pepsin. Insist on Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Senna combined with Syrup Pepsin. See how wonderfully the Laxative Senna wakes up lazy nerves and muscles in your intestines to bring welcome relief from constipation. And the good old Syrup Pepsin makes this laxative so comfortable and easy on your stomach. Even finicky children love the taste of this pleasant family laxative. Take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Senna combined with Syrup Pepsin, as directed on label or as your doctor advises, and feel world's better. Get genuine Dr. Caldwell's.

Doesn't it seem more sensible?

EACH DAY OF THE WEEK ..... TO .....

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

On Page 1 of the paper each day you will find a list of the advertisements to be checked that day.

All you have to do is to decide each day which Large Ad, which Medium Ad and which Small Ad you think will do the advertiser the most good. Just write three names on this blank each day.

$750.00 in awards go to those readers whose selections are nearest to what the majority of readers think. Every week is a separate survey with a dozen or more cash awards each week.

Every member of any family may send in one answer each week and there are many awards each week, but only one award for a good answer will go to any one family in any one week.

I THINK THESE ADS WILL DO THE ADVERTISERS THE MOST GOOD.

You are NOT required to write a letter to receive an award.

The awards are decided on the selections above. We would really appreciate it, though, if you would write a note saying what you DO NOT LIKE and . . . also . . . WHY YOU LIKED some of the good ads.

We sincerely want your suggestions and ideas of how we may improve our advertising service for your benefit. Write your letter in your own way! It's the thoughts and suggestions that matter. You are not being "judged" by your letters. Actually they have nothing to do with the awards . . . but . . . they will be helpful by giving additional information to our merchants.

Your criticisms and suggestions will be given to the merchants to help them to improve their advertisements BUT the merchants will NOT be given the names of those who write the letters. This is so you may say just what you really think without embarrassment.

GALION SEES NEW RED CROSS CANTEEN UNIT

Showing Under Supervision of Mrs. W. P. Kimble, Head of Chapter.

GALION—An official American Red Cross mobile canteen was in Galion today and inspection by the public was supervised by Mrs. W. P. Kimble, chairman of the Galion Red Cross chapter. The unit is one of two which have been built by the Ohio Fuel Gas company to be used either to supplement the cooking capacity of local units or possibly to be used as the only source of cooking in case of failure of city utilities.

It is estimated that approximately 1500 people can be handled by each unit, using the emergency feeding menus.

In the future it is planned to have the canteen return to Galion for practice feeding of school groups by the local Red Cross members. Assisting Mrs Kimble was Mrs. Pauline Treisch, home service representative for the gas company.

NATIVE OF AUSTRALIA TELLS OF THE COUNTRY IN TALK AT GALION

GALION S. W. Hammond, of Mt. Gilead, a native of Queensland Australia, related many unknown facts concerning our "down under" Allies when he addressed members of the Galion Rotary club Monday evening at Hotel Talbott. Hammond, reared in Queensland, also spent many years in the Malayan peninsula and in Japan as a rubber broker and manufacturer's representative.

Queensland, he said, is only one of the Australian states, but is 16 times the size of Ohio and has only one half the population of Ohio. It is there that the majority of American troops now in Australia are stationed.

Although Australia is known as a white man's country, said Hammond, the Japanese, Chinese and other Orientals have been allowed to enter the country. Of the aborigines he said that in the more densely inhabited regions of Australia, the natives have been segregated on reservations and are only allowed to roam the city streets at will between the hours of 10 and 4 in the daytime.

"The aborigines," remarked Hammond, "have shown uncanny ability as trackers and are often used by the police forces to track criminals."

In a comparison of Australia and the United States, the speaker stressed the similarities of spirit, ideas and initiative, much of which is a result of comparable environment and early settlement influences. He also told of unlimited mineral resources of that continent and said that they have literally been untapped.

In giving a picture of the Japanese system of espionage in Singapore and Hong Kong, Hammond said that within the last few years Japanese business houses doubled and tripled in numbers - being only blinds for fact finding for the Japanese military command

"They photographed every bridge, every harbor and every available spot which was later of use to them in military strategy," he said.

At the close of the Rotary meeting, the members voted a contribution for the benefit of the Defense Nursery school and Art Manzer, chairman of the Galion USO drive, outlined the campaign plans for raising the donation quota in Galion.

NAME FIREMAN

Hobart Roberts Gets Temporary Shelby Post.

SHELBY - Hobart Roberts, 36, formerly employed by the Roethlisberger Transfer company, today had been appointed temporarily as a junior fireman at the fire department to fill Edward Lysinger's post until the latter returns from the armed services.

REMEMBER PEARL HARBOR --- BUY A WAR BOND ON MONDAY

Here's How To Do Your Bit To Remember Pearl Harbor

1. During the Alert on the evening of Sunday, December 6th, the Civilian Defense will deliver to your home a "Remember Pearl Harbor War Bond Pledge."
2. If you are already buying Bonds on Payroll Deduction, just check and sign the pledge accordingly. This is your way of telling the boys in service that you are backing them with bonds. On Monday, December 7th, deposit it in any of the Remember Pearl Harbor boxes that you see at your place of employment, in the banks, stores or postoffice. YOUR NAME WILL THEN APPEAR IN THE MANSFIELD NEWS-JOURNAL ON SUNDAY, DECEMBER 13th, AND WILL BE SENT TO MANSFIELD MEN AND WOMEN IN THE ARMED FORCES ALL OVER THE WORLD.
3. If you are NOT on Payroll Deduction please check and sign the pledge accordingly. On Monday, December 7th, present yourself at your bank, the postoffice, the Ohio Fuel Gas Company, or the Ohio or Madison Theaters at 12:25 P. M. or later and BUY ONE OR MORE WAR BONDS. Leave your Remember Pearl Harbor pledge where you buy your bonds and YOUR NAME WILL THEN APPEAR IN THE MANSFIELD NEWS-JOURNAL ON SUNDAY, DECEMBER 13th, AND WILL BE SENT TO MANSFIELD MEN AND WOMEN IN THE ARMED FORCES ALL OVER THE WORLD. Of course, you have plenty of time this week to arrange for Payroll Deduction through your employer (10% or more if possible) and then you can sign the Pearl Harbor pledge under Payroll Deduction.
4. If the one copy of the pledge to be left at your home on Sunday, December 6th, is not sufficient to accommodate the War Bond purchasers in your family, you may clip additional copies of the pledge from The News-Journal when it is published on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, December 3, 4, and 5.
5. When you buy War Bonds to Remember Pearl Harbor you can redeem the War Savings Stamps that you have accumulated. It is not necessary to have a complete book. Bring what you have to your bank, postoffice or theater.
6. REMEMBER, FOR YOUR NAME TO APPEAR IN THE NEWSPAPER TO BE SENT TO THE ARMED FORCES YOU MUST SIGN THE SPECIAL "REMEMBER PEARL HARBOR PLEDGE".

U. S. and Britain Agree on Production

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Speaking For Myself.

It appears to me that this season the opera is having an unusually powerful influence on the Broadway theater, and without having any opinion as to whether this is good, bad, or merely interesting, I am rather curious to see how far the whole thing will go.

Kilgallen

So far, apart from the regular bill of fare at the Metropolitan and the thriving New Opera company, theatergoers have been treated (that may be rather an over-optimistic word) to a version of Strauss, "Fledermaus" called "Rosalinda" and a modernized "Barber of Seville" irreverently retitled "Once Over Lightly."

From now on, I am quite prepared for anything. No feather will knock me over when I hear that Wagner's "Twilight of the Gods" has been converted into something called "The Harder They Fall," and that "Lucia di Lammermoor" will reappear at the Alvin as "She Must Be Nuts."

If they can dish it out, I can take it.

If the social historians are wondering where the jitterbugs make their habitat these days, I have some minor data to pass along. The zoot-suit and saddle-shoes fraternity can be found grouped around the stage door of "Beat the Band," waiting for Leonard Sues, the show's trumpet star, to emerge.

Leonard's horn seems to have affected the swing fans as powerfully as did Artie Shaw's clarinet a few seasons back.

I've noticed some odd-looking knitting going on among the local girls—stuff obviously not destined for the boys at the front and rather difficult to imagine even on the boys at the rear.

It develops that some of the glamor lassies are knitting themselves lacy mesh stockings. What with no nylon for love nor money, and the erstaz calf-covering highly unreliable, the girls have taken to making their own. I'll let you know how it turns out.

I am one member of the feminine population who does not mourn the temporary passing of those cunning mechanical household devices that flooded the department stores before metals were rationed.

Gadgets like automatic mixers, servers, pourers, heaters, toasters, roasters, and string-bean slicers have always baffled me, and I was wont to look upon each gleaming new invention not as a helpful friend, but rather as some malevolent robot designed to harass and perplex me.

All those shining geegaws which (the salesman always assured me) a child could operate always proved instantly that I am no child.

Anything composed of screws, levers and ingenuity inevitably takes on an independent and hostile will of its own the moment I get it home; it either snaps at me viciously or falls apart in my hands.

I don't need those so many-days left-until reminders to make me realize Christmas is near. Just yesterday I found myself unearthing Bing Crosby's "Silent Night" from the record pile.

A member of the staff of the new night club, Cafe Life, caught in a somewhat confessional mood the other evening, admitted to me that that bistro has a definite technique for discouraging ladies at the bar.

Nothing so crass as little placards saying "Ladies Not Invited" or buttons inscribed "Go Away, Girl, You Bother Me" in the bartender's lapel. Oh no; nothing like that.

They have just fixed the bar so the colors and lights are so unflattering that any lady sipping her old-fashioned from a tall stool looks like Dracula drinking a pre-homicide toddy.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — The Warner Bros., who once shared a bow with Shakespeare on "A Midsummer Night's Dream," are not taking bows for the American invasion of North Africa or the capture of the important seaport of Casablanca. They're much too busy rushing their Humphrey Bogart-Ingrid Bergman movie, "Casablanca," to the screens. . . .

Coons

The Hope-Crosby-Lamour screen travels are hitting an equal spot of luck in their latest, "The Road to Morocco." After they traveled "The Road to Singapore" the war caught up with that fortress, so their visit to Zanzibar, on the east coast of Africa, boded no good for that island. It was ostensibly to avoid any connection with war that Paramount picked on Morocco for the new adventure, this being (in the opinion then of studio armchair strategists) a spot not likely to be embroiled in the near future.

The war development did necessitate a changed ending. As first filmed, the heroes knew nothing of America's entry into the war until they returned to New York, whereupon Bing and Bob joined up and promised the audience to see them on "The Road to Tokyo." With the current doings in Morocco, obviously no one could be there and not know America was in, so the picture now ends with the principals on a raft, heading for New York—and no mention of the war.

There'll be another "road" picture, but in which direction hasn't been decided. Meanwhile there's a pleasant new title in "Assignment in Berlin," coming for Brian Aherne at Columbia.

Pretty Ann Rutherford, long-suffering Polly Benedict of the Andy Hardy series, has arrived at the beginning of wisdom. "I've learned to say no to parts," she proclaims proudly.

Ann finally left Metro and joined 20th Century-Fox, where she's made an impression in "Orchestra Wives." As often happens, Metro borrowed her right back for a couple of pictures, and wanted her to do another Polly to Mickey Rooney's Andy.

"I said no," says Ann. "I wouldn't mind if Polly had a real part to play again, but lately she's just the old girl friend who sits around while Mickey chases a new flame. And I can't be Polly Benedict all my life—after all, I am 22!"

AAA DEVELOPS PLAN TO BOOST '43 FOOD CROP

Develops Plan To Encourage Farmers To Aim For Record Production.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—The Agriculture Adjustment Agency, originally designed to slash food production sharply, today offered a plan encouraging American farmers to increase their output to unprecedented goals in 1943.

The plan was drawn up to enforce the agriculture department's food production goals for next year, which call for increased production of numerous farm commodities.

Every U. S. farmer will decide with AAA county representatives how much and what kind of food he will produce in 1943 for America's soldiers, consumers and allies, it was disclosed.

"The farm plan," the AAA said, "will be a virtual blueprint of intended 1943 production and will be worked out by each farmer with the assistance of AAA committeemen."

The AAA plan will be enforced by "stiff payment deductions on farms failing to meet war producgoals."

AAA 1943 crop payments will "be conditioned on the degree to which each cooperating farm family carries out its individual farm plan which will represent each farm's share of the production goals."

Thus the AAA, which ordered the slaughter of hundreds of thousands of pigs during the early days of the New Deal, announced its mobilization to aid American farmers in the production of, among other foods, the record total of 121,000,000 hogs.

The AAA warned that "failure to plant at least 90 per cent of crop allotments will result in payment deduction at a rate five times the compliance rate."

Thus, "a farmer's crop payment would be wiped out entirely if he should plant only 70 per cent of his allotment," it was pointed out.

In this way the AAA will use benefit payments to keep farmers from deviating from the blueprint of farm production agreed to by the farmer and the AAA.

TAKEN BY DEATH

Mrs. Della McDowell, 67, Was Children's Home Matron.

Mrs. Della Guthrie McDowell, 67, governess at the Ashland county Children's home since 1935, died there early today following a heart attack.

She was born in Perrysville, April 19, 1875, and located in Ashland following the death of her husband in 1935. Mrs. McDowell was a life member of the Perrysville Baptist church and was a former teacher in the Sunday school there.

One daughter, Mrs. Andrew J. Rochelle of Ashland, survives with five sisters and one brother. They are: Mrs. Henry Shaffer, Ashland; Mrs. C. F. Gray, Ellwood City, Pa.; Mrs. Walter Moltrapp, Beaver, Pa., Cloyd Gates and Mrs. Walter Waddington of Shelby and James Guthrie, Plymouth, O. A grandson, William James Rochelle, also survives.

The body will be removed from the Jones Funeral home in Mansfield to the home of the daughter, Mrs. Andrew J. Rochelle in Ashland, Wednesday morning. Funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 2:30 p. m. in the Perrysville Baptist church conducted by Rev. Frank L. Hicks of the Ashland Methodist church and Rev. James Gilson of Perrysville. Burial will be at Green Lawn cemetery.

$5,932 SOUGHT IN TWO SUITS

Two suits for damages totaling $5,932.50 were filed in common pleas court today as a result of an automobile accident on Orange street, Dec. 2, 1940.

Paul Haverstem is the defendant in each action. Elizabeth Lehman asks $5,000 for personal injuries she said she received when her car figured in an accident with a car of the defendant's, while in the second suit her husband, Nick Lehman seeks $932.50 expenses and damages for loss of his wife's services.

KNOX COUNTY ADDED TO AREA

Mansfield Rent Office Takes In More Territory; Ashland Inspector Named.

Knox county today was added to the area under the supervision of the Mansfield rent office, making a total of four counties in the Mansfield district, Acting Rent Director Mortan Hayman announced. The area now includes Richland, Ashland, Crawford and Knox counties.

Appointment of Fred W. Koehl of Ashland as rents inspector in Ashland county was announced by Hayman who said the inspector was named under a temporary 120-day arrangement.

Steps are being taken to set up temporary subdivision offices in Knox and Crawford counties, Hayman said. Permanent files for the counties will be in Mansfield, however, and all their rental cases will be processed here.

Hayman said the Mansfield office has been swamped for the past two days with rental registrations and he estimated that more than 8,000 persons have registered, approximately half the total expected for the area.

Many property owners have forgotten that the registration deadline has been extended to Dec. 15 and have been trying to beat an imaginary Dec. 1 deadline, the acting director said.

He added that there was "nothing definite yet" about the appointment of a Mansfield area director to succeed LeRoy B. Hamilton who resigned under pressure from labor organizations in the city. Hayman, who is district field representative, has been acting in the absence of a director.

RITES SET FOR MRS. KENDALL

Funeral To Be Conducted At Ashland Wednesday.

ASHLAND — Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Kendall, 57, who died Monday at her home in Ashland, will be conducted Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Heyl funeral home with Rev. R. D. Wingert, pastor of the Nankin Federated church, officiating. Burial will be in Ashland cemetery.

Born Dec. 29, 1885 in Harrison county, Ms. Kendall was the wife of Howard Kendall. She had lived in Ashland county 23 years. Death followed a lingering illness.

Surviving are the husband, two sisters, Mrs. Novella Lemmon of New Concord, and Mrs. Lena Gummere of Galesburg, Ill.; and five brothers, Ross Henderson of Northfield, O.; Frank W., of Detroit; L. C. Henderson of Columbus; and A. Y. Henderson of Ashland.

CENTRAL OHIO TRAFFIC CHIEFS STAGE YULE FROLIC THURSDAY

Notables of Ohio's traffic realm will attend the annual Christmas party of the Central Ohio Traffic club at the Mansfield-Leland hotel at 6 p. m. Thursday. More than 200 reservations are expected.

This Mansfield function highlights the year's activity of the traffic chiefs, with railroad, steamship, truckline and industrial leaders attending from Cleveland, Toledo, Ashland, Bucyrus, Galion, Newark, Mt. Vernon, Shelby and other cities. Ladies will be guests.

Toastmaster for the dinner program will be A. W. Baker, superintendent of the Youngstown division of the Erie railroad, with E. L. Morgan, traffic manager of the Ohio Seamless Tube company of Shelby and presidents of the association, presiding. The invocation will be given by Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor of First English Lutheran church.

Dancing to follow the dinner will be featured by music of the Westinghouse orchestra directed by Robert Myers.

Committee in charge has Thomas M. Dorsey, agent of the Norwalk Truck line, as chairman; R. F. McCann, agent of the B. and O. railroad; H. R. Hoovler, agent of the Pennsylvania railroad; J. W. Gilkison, agent of the Erie railroad; F. L. Ohler, supervisor of traffic for Westinghouse; A. P. Baker, traffic representative of the Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad; Thomas C. Farrell, traffic manager of Motor Cargo incorporated; Howard Johnson, traffic manager of Dominion Electrical Manufacturing company and R. B. Cruickshank, of CCC Highway incorporated, as members.

Central Ohio association is a branch of the Associated Traffic clubs of America and the annual Christmas party here is always an assembly of notables in the traffic world.

Courtesy gifts will be presented to everyone attending the dinner and war bond awards will be awarded as door prizes to ladies.

NEW SECRETARY

Miss Miriam Hooper Takes Over at County Red Cross.

Miss Miriam Hooper today assumed her duties as executive secretary of the Richland county chapter, American Red Cross. She came here from a similar position in East Liverpool, where she served for the past 18 months.

Prior to that Miss Hooper was with the department of public welfare in Akron. During 1936 she did relief work in communities affected by the spring floods, while in 1937 she was stationed in the Ohio-Mississippi valley flood district.

During 1938 Miss Hooper served with the disaster committee aiding victims of the New England hurricane, and in 1940 did similar work in the flooded districts of North Carolina and Louisiana.

She is a graduate of Miami university in Oxford, and had Red Cross training in Washington. While in Mansfield she will reside at 200 Lind avenue.

Miss Hooper will assume the office made vacant by the recent resignation of Miss Lenore Van Gundia, who plans to be married.

FIRST HUNTING CASUALTY

HILLSBORO — (INS) — Highland county's first hunting fatality was recorded with the death of John Prenat, 52, of nearby Fayetteville.

Laff-a-Day

"They really do things right at this mountain resort, don't they? Look! Hors d'oeuvres!"

Leaving Mansfield last night after exactly 13 years to the day that he was registered in the scouting movement in the Johnny Appleseed area, D. D. Montoya went to the Mahoning valley area council of Youngstown to resume his duties as field executive. Before becoming field executive here in October of 1937, Montoya had been scoutmaster of Troop 3 in Galion for eight years. In Youngstown he will be one of four field executives. No replacement will be made here for the present, Scout headquarters said.

The old game of "button, button, who's got the button," is being played by volunteer workers at the Red Cross Production Center where a scarcity of buttons exists for the scores of garments being made for victims in disaster areas. Mrs. Louis J. Ott, production chairman, said that buttons for pajamas, shirts, dresses and other garments are needed and that contributions would be appreciated.

Patrons at one Mansfield service station last night were treated to an extra-special service. Attendants were directing them as to the best possible angle to park their cars before filling the tanks, and most motorists were more than happy to learn that by this method their tanks would hold a few extra pints of the now precious fluid.

We've all heard about "people who live in glass houses," that old bromide " . . . begins at home" and a flock of others. After a municipal employe had read Ellen Cramer's "Letter to the Boss" in yesterday's News-Journal, about snow-covered sidewalks, another reporter's attention was called to the fact that snow remained on the West Second and South Walnut street walks along the City Hall, with Old Sol being the only guy interested in its removal. The two building custodian undoubtedly were too busy, but it did seem to many that they could have found time to do something about it yesterday. And prisoners who are serving out fines probably could have enjoyed some fresh air shoveling the snow.

HE'S CONFUSED

Senator Can't Understand WMC on Newspaper Orders.

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Sen. Ralph O. Brewster, (R., Me.) today said he was at a loss to understand how the War Manpower commission could classify newspapers as essential to the war effort and at the same time issue directives to the United States Employment Service that the production of newsprint was nonessential.

Brewster said in an interview that "anybody can draw their own conclusions from the facts," but he indicated that he regarded the WMC's attitude as representing the first step in cutting the size of American newspapers to a bare minimum.

Brewster recently charged that the WMC and the U.S.E.S had denied to pulp mills in his state the right to employ imported Canadian laborers on the ground that the pulp industry was nonessential.

BOYS WOUNDED

Children Hurt When They Play With Brother's Gun.

ZANESVILLE — (AP) — Three small sons of Mr. and Mrs. Myrl United of nearby Dresden were wounded while playing with their big brother's shotgun yesterday.

Marshal James Lacey of Dresden said the three youngsters, Donald, 7, Everett, 6 and Rolland, 3, obtained the gun after their brother Charles, 17, laid it on the porch while he went to get his car to go hunting. They took the gun in the house and it went off, Lacey said, the shots striking all three of the boys.

SHIFT IN WAR BRINGS CHANGE IN PLANNING

President and Allied Minister of Production Work Out New Schedule.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The United States and Great Britain today were in agreement on a new joint production program which envisages the possible defeat of Nazi Germany next year.

The program was worked out by President Roosevelt and Oliver Lyttleton, British production minister, who is returning to London to put the British part of the program into immediate effect.

Following a conference with President Roosevelt at the White House late yesterday, Lyttleton told reporters at a special press conference that the new program is based on the "strategic initiative" in the war now having passed from the Axis to the United Nations.

He said he thought the European war "could be won" between now and Jun- 1943. However, he emphasized that such a development was merely a possibility rather than a probability. He also said that the program planning with President Roosevelt covered 1944 as well as next year.

Lyttleton's optimistic statement concerning the possibility of Nazi Germany being defeated next year was in response to repeated questions by reporters as to whether the new production program envisaged decisive action against Germany in 1943.

"What you want me to tell you is whether I think we are going to win the war next year," Lyttleton said. "I will put it this way. We could not have won the war in 1939, 1940, 1941, or 1942. Our planning is based on June to June estimates.

"With that in view, I believe the war could be won between now and June, 1943. However, I don't say it will be; merely that I think it could be."

Lyttleton said the recent victories of the United Nations—in Russia, North Africa and the Pacific—have changed the entire picture of Allied planning.

Junior High Art Pupils Get Repeat Order On Covers

Those 300 menu covers for a newly organized Naval training station in Tennessee made by ninth grade art pupils at John Simpson Junior high school at Thanksgiving time were so popular that another order for Christmas covers was received recently by Miss Faye Sotherland, art teacher.

The request sent through the national headquarters for the Junior Red Cross council by a prospective commanding officer of the U. S. Naval Training school, aviation maintenance, in Memphis, Tenn., was for 9,000 covers to be ready by Dec. 10.

However, since it was impossible for that many to be made on such short notice, the art classes will be responsible for at least 1,500, Miss Sotherland said. Samples of the first ones were sent to schools throughout the nation who will help with the Christmas order.

Material for the work is furnished by the Junior Red Cross. All art pupils in both Miss Sotherland's and Miss Hester Robinson's classes are helping with the project during their study periods. By doing this they are also earning points for Junior Red Cross membership.

Boy Who Watched Search For Own Body Held in Jail.

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Louis Henry Neal, 16, who tricked police and firemen into believing he had committed suicide and then watched them drag the Scioto river for six hours, was held at a juvenile detention home today.

Police blamed unrequited "puppy love" for the youth's actions. He left his gloves, jacket and key case with his picture in it on a bridge over the Scioto river.

12 HURT AT MASSILLON

MASSILLON — (INS) — Twelve men were injured, four seriously, when several cars of a Pennsylvania railroad wrecking train overturned and rolled down an embankment at Warwick, 12 miles north of Massillon. All were from Cleveland. No immediate cause was given for the mishap.

Vern Hoffman, Mansfield high school basketball coach, believes he has a solution for the transportation problem during the coming cage season.

"If they can't make the trip here in private cars," says Hoffman, "let them use trains and regular bus lines. And if they can't get back home the same night on trains and buses, and don't want to go to the expense of staying at hotels, we'll put them up in private homes like we used to do for the Mansfield Relays."

And Athletic Director Harry Mehock chimes in: "That's the way we used to do it. No reason why we can't do it again."

So it seems the basketball transportation problem isn't such a problem after all. It merely looked like one because the war called for changes and a tightening of belts.

The high school cagers won't be traveling in the manner to which they've become accustomed, but they can still get where they want to go, and if all schools adopt the Hoffman plan, there will be little difficulty, and no problem at all.

However the small Class B schools still have their problem. Many of them are unable to take advantage of railroad and commercial bus lines.

The Mt. Vernon News reports that the Mansfield at Mt. Vernon game Feb. 6, now marked "tentative" on the Tyger cage schedule, has been definitely scheduled, so you can erase the tentative from the card.

Also Coach Mike Prech, who is a whiz at developing basketball teams when the boys really want to play basketball, is highly enthused over his Mt. Vernon material this year and for several years to come.

Last year he had a bunch of boys who openly boasted of their failure to keep in training.

"If these kids keep on showing me the kind of scrap I've seen the last few days, we'll have a better team than we had last year," declares Mike.

Last year's Yellow Jacket team could have used some scrap. The boys looked like they were scared to death the night they were swamped here in Mansfield.

No cage coach can be called happy
When his heroes aren't scrappy.

Correcting a wrong impression: I'm told that quite a few readers thought I was talking about Johnny Villella Sunday when I related how one boxing manager sent reams of publicity about himself and a line saying he had just signed Paul Carbetta, Mansfield featherweight.

No, I wasn't talking about Villella. The description didn't come near fitting him. John went to considerable expense and made a good honest effort to get fights for Carbetta.

The guy I was talking about isn't from Mansfield. But I didn't mention his name because he's a fight promoter and may give Carbetta a place on a card some time.

N.C.O. Leaguers Get On All-Ohio

Don Kay, Marion Harding tackle, and Leo Strang, Ashland back, were named today on the All-Ohio high school football team selected by International News Service.

Bill Lybarger, Mt. Vernon center, and Harold Jenkins, Marion back, were picked on the second team, while in the honorable mention list were: Don Benedict, Marion end, Glenn Martin, Ashland tackle, Bernard Ernst, Galion guard, Thomas Boyd, Marion guard.

The first team Harold Raether, Toledo Waite, and Guido Mastrogani, Steubenville, ends, Kay, Marion, and Karl Paulik, Massillon, tackles; Vernon Leuck, Dover, and Ken Fineske, Toledo Libbey, guards; Alfonse Andreani, Alliance center, and five backs, Strang, Ashland, John Sauer, Dayton Oakwood, Tony Dominick, Canton McKinley, Bob Lucas, Paulding, and Charles Becca, Martins Ferry.

George Schuster, guard, and Jack Crider, back, of Canton McKinley, and Massillon back Chuck Holt, got on the second team. In the honorable mention list were Don Monk, Portsmouth, and Jasper Harris, Canton McKinley, ends, Walt Finnegan, Springfield, tackle; Vernon Weisgarber, Massillon guard, Tom Williams, Portsmouth, center and Ernie Parks, Canton McKinley, back.

Pete Henry, Lakewood, nephew of Mansfield's Pete Henry, and Ollie Cline of Fredericktown drew honorable mention in the backfield.

Wire Service Selects All-Ohio College Team

Chet Mutryn Only Repeater From Last Year; Romano On 3rd Team

COLUMBUS—(UP)—He's big and bashful and when it comes to football he'll talk your arm off about his famous little brother, Gene.

That's genial John Fekete, Ohio university senior whom coaches paid a splendid tribute today by voting him an almost unanimous berth on the 1942 United Press All-Ohio college football squad.

Coaches and newspaper men selecting an all-star team for the United Press voted Fekete the "outstanding backfield man of the year" and Center Bill Powers, a fireball in the Dayton line, the "outstanding lineman of the year" in Ohio college football.

Here's the varsity eleven:

Ends, Elbert Nickel of Cincinnati and Joe Bagdonas of Western Reserve; tackles, Joe Vender of John Carroll and Don Phillips of Baldwin Wallace; guards, Nick Skorich of Cincinnati and Angelo Janotti of Ohio Northern; center, Bill Powers of Dayton; backs, John Fekete and Bill Heinz of Ohio U., Chet Mutryn of Xavier and Bill Knisley of Dayton.

Chet Mutryn, the swivel-hipped butcher boy from Cleveland who would rather play baseball any day than football, is the only repeater from last year. In 1940 he took a halfback post on the United Press second team.

An additional year of experience seemed to have helped at least four players who won spots on this year's all-star club. Skorich and Fekete, who were on the 1941 second team, and Heinz and Janotti, who received only honorable mention last year, moved up to the first squad.

Cincinnati, Ohio U. and Dayton each placed two men on the first team. Other teams honored were John Carroll, Ohio Northern, Baldwin Wallace, Western Reserve and Xavier.

This year's all-star squad is predominately a senior team. Seven of the first string are seniors and the remaining four are juniors.

Fekete, though a six-foot 175-pounder, is a shifty, smart back who uses every available blocker and has enough drive in his powerful legs to plough ahead for an additional two, three or four yards even though he is apparently snowed under by tacklers.

Like his brother Gene, sophomore star at Ohio State, Fekete has an amazing change of pace that enables him to outsmart faster men in a broken field. Also like Gene, he's a scoring demon, having tallied 11 touchdowns this season for a total of 66 points.

Fekete averaged six yards a try from scrimmage, accounted for more than 200 yards on passes and gained well over 1,000 yards during the 1942 season.

Fekete's running mate, Bill Heinz, is a smashing fullback who can pitch a pass or knock one down, crash through the line or clear the field for the ball carrier.

Heinz averaged four yards a try, scored six touchdowns and turned in brilliant defensive play—in spite of the fact that he played in one game with his left hand broken and in five games with both hands broken.

* * *

Powers is an excellent center who has not made a bad pass all year. He's shifty and a stellar linebacker who has a knack for diagnosing plays. Against Tennessee and Cincinnati, the two teams that downed Dayton this year, Powers was in on about 80 per cent of the plays.

Makes All-Star Selection

JOE ROMANO

Making all-star teams is getting to be a habit with Mansfield's Joe Romano. Last year the Tyger end was picked on the first All-Ohio high school eleven by the Associated Press. This year as a freshman star at John Carroll university, Cleveland, Joe has been selected on the third team of the All-Ohio college squad by the United Press.

Tellings Takes C-League Lead

Breaks Tie With Cabs For First Position.

Tellings Sealtest scored a 2-1 victory over Safety Cabs at Colony alleys last night to break a tie for first place in the Commercial "C" bowling league, and take a one game lead over the Cabs. Tied for third are Sons of Herman and Mayer Drugs.

Schmidt rolled high total of 568, getting a one-pin edge over M. Day, who tied with Berry for high game with 220.

Bill Terry Quits New York Giants

CHICAGO—(AP)—William Harold Terry, who became famous as a baseball grouch, was a happy man today and out of a job.

It was widely believed by all the baseball clan that Terry had a new connection tentatively arranged when he announced yesterday that he was quitting as farm director of the New York Giants, with whom he had been associated 20 years as player, manager and executive.

Although other possibilities were suggested, most observers believed the 42-year-old Memphis oil man was ready to take control of the Philadelphia Franchise of the National league, possibly financed by the league itself if no purchaser is located for the distressed property before the season opens.

Three Teams Bid For Top

But Mansfield Savings Keeps Club Loop Lead.

Three teams are crowding Mansfield Savings Bank for first place in the Club bowling league today. Tied for second place, just two games behind the leaders, are: Doherty Fraternity, American Legion and Tracy-Avery.

Johnny Leppo took scoring honors in the league last night at Colony alleys with a 604 total, while Louis Zahn and Dan Nagel had 603, and Peterson 601.

R. LeMunyon took high game with 244 and E. Stauffer had 232. There were 24 games over 200 in the league.

HORNE COPS NOD

NEW YORK — (AP) — George (Sonny) Horne, 156, of Niles, O., won a decision from Pete Geno, 151, of New York in a six-round feature fight at the St. Nicholas arena last night.

PLAYED GREAT GAME ON THE SIDELINES

COLUMBUS, Ga.—(AP)—Told to warm up, James Whatley, a guard on Spencer high school's colored team, raced up and down the sidelines, doing flips and prancing.

Waved into the game, he zigzagged around nearly every man on the field before reporting to the referee.

There he collapsed with a trick knee out of place, and was carried from the field.

Csuri Named Ohio Captain

Tommy James Enlisting In U. S. Armed Forces.

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Charles (Chuck) Csuri, 190-pound perfect tackle," on Ohio State University's Western conference football championship team, will captain the Buckeyes' 1943 eleven—if there is one.

The election of Csuri, whom Buck Coach Paul Brown describes as "the best tackle in the Big Ten" and "a player who does his job so well no one notices him," was announced at last night's annual appreciation dinner for the Buck squad which won nine and lost one this year to win recognition as the Nation's No. 1 football team in the Associated Press' poll of the country's sports writers.

Csuri, a Cleveland boy, succeeds Captain George Lynn of Niles, who possibly would have been re-elected but for arrangements to enter the navy upon completing his school work next August.

Gene Fekete of Findlay, one of the nation's leading scorers, was selected by the Columbus quarterbacks' club as the outstanding sophomore of the year and awarded a trophy.

Massillon selective officials revealed, meanwhile, that Tommy James, star Buckeye halfback, had been granted a release to enlist in the army this week.

Records Fall As Bucks Roll

Fekete Betters Harmon Mark in Yards Gained.

CHICAGO —(AP)— Ohio State's Big Ten champions and Gene Fekete of the Buckeyes and Otto Graham of Northwestern showed the way for a severe shaking up of Western conference and Midwest grid records this season, the American football statistical bureau said today.

Ohio State rambled 3,975 yards in 10 contests for a new modern Midwest total offense record of 397.5 yards per game, bettering the old mark for this section of 322.3 yards a game made by Detroit in 1940.

The Buckeyes also contributed a new rushing record, averaging 283.3 yards to surpass Minnesota's 1941 average of 257.8 yards.

Fekete established a Big Ten record for rushing by running for 910 yards, besting the 868 total of Michigan's Tom Harmon made in 1939.

The Ohio State fullback also kicked 29 out of 39 conversion attempts which exceeded the 18 out of 28 booted by Harmon in 1940

Graham failed by 29 yards to better the Big Ten all-time total offense mark of 1,356 yards set by Harmon in 1939, but he did achive a new record in passing with 89 completions in 182 tries for 1,092 yards.

Wisconsin's Dave Schreiner caught 18 passes this year for 386 yards, a new conference distance high, only to have Ohio State's Paul Sarringhaus outrun him for 474 yards. Sarringhaus caught only 17 aerials, however.

CONFERENCE MEETS

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Members of the Ohio conference will meet here Saturday to discuss the Intercollegiate Athletic association's wartime programs. Transportation of basketball teams this season is expected to occupy most of the delegates' attention.

Buckeyes Rate As No. 1 Team

Ohio State Called Best In Nation By Scribes.

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK—(AP)—Ohio State, Big Ten champion and winner in nine of 10 games, is the best college football team of 1942 in the opinion of 156 sports experts polled by the Associated Press.

The Buckeyes, ranked No. 1 in the first three tabulations of the season, skidded to tenth in the middle of the campaign but were third a week ago following their defeat of Michigan. This week, on the strength of their 41-12 victory over Iowa Pre-Flight, Coach Paul Brown's athletes returned to the throne.

* * *

Georgia, which took over the front position when Ohio State abdicated late in October, finished 93 points behind the midwesterners in the final compilation.

Boston college, victim of Holy Cross' gridirony after being on top for only one week, slumped to eighth place in the finale.

Wisconsin, only team to conquer the Buckeyes, grabbed third place just ahead of Tulsa, unbeaten champion of the Missouri Valley circuit and a Sugar Bowl participant.

Ohio State, which finished thirteenth a year ago in Brown's first season as head coach, collected 337 points during the season while limiting its opponents to 114.

Although neither Brown nor any of his aids has mentioned it, it has become known that 21 of the Buckeye players were taken ill en route to Madison, Wis., for the crucial game with the powerful Badgers and were not at their strongest in the 17 to 7 setback.

The standings of the teams (first place votes in parentheses points figured on 10-9-8-7 etc., basis):

First Ten.

Ohio State (84)	1432
Georgia (2)	1339
Wisconsin (4)	983
Tulsa (4)	936
Georgia Tech	705
Notre Dame	509
Tennessee	533
Boston College	485
Michigan	467
Alabama	234

HORACE GILLOM GOES TO ARMY IN DRAFT

MASSILLON — (U.P.) — Horace Gillom, former Massillon high school football and basketball star who was dropped from the Ohio State university football squad because of poor grades, has been inducted into the army, local draft officials revealed today.

He passed his final army physical examination at Akron last week and has been inducted into the service, it was said.

PLAY WITH EAST

NEW YORK—(AP)—Quarterback George Lynn and Halfback Les Horvath of Ohio State university are among 17 players who have accepted invitations to play on an eastern team against a western eleven in the Shrine football game at San Francisco Jan. 1.

BREADON HEDGES ON FAMED FARM SYSTEM

CHICAGO—(AP)—Sam Breadon, president of the St. Louis Cardinals, said today he had not renewed any minor league working agreements for 1943 and that he also intended reducing his scouting staff.

"We want to help whatever clubs we can, but right now we don't know how many or what players will be available and we are not in a position to promise to send assistance to any one," he said.

Alabama, Boston Go To Orange Bowl

MIAMI, Fla. — (AP) — Alabama will send its football team into a New Year's day game—against Boston college in the Orange Bowl for the seventh time, Jan. 1, thus approaching Stanford's mark of eight post-season appearances.

Orange Bowl president Oscar E. Dooly, jr., announced the signing of the teams last night.

Boston's high-flying Eagles, losers to Holy Cross 55 to 12 in one of the season's greatest upsets, immediately were established as slight favorites.

Alabama won six games and lost three this year.

MIXED TRENDS CONTINUED IN EARLY DEALING

Bullish Contingents Happy Over Performance of List In November.

NEW YORK—Mixed tendencies continued in today's early stock market transactions.

Up fractionally at a fairly active opening were Goodrich, 20th Century-Fox, American Can and Union Carbide. A shade lower were General Electric, Anaconda, Standard Oil (NJ), North American and Westinghouse.

Bullish contingents were pretty well satisfied with the performance of shares in the month just passed although, on balance, the market suffered its first monthly decline since last April.

Noted also was the fact that volume dwindled substantially in November. The aggregate was 13,437,025 against 15,932,498 in October.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

THEATERS

Romantic Drama.

Bette Davis jumps from "Plain Jane" to glamor girl in the Ohio attraction, "Now, Voyager," based on Olive Higgins Prouty's best-seller. She appears first as a stodgy New England girl whose youth has been frustrated by a domineering mother and then as a beautiful young traveler bound for Rio to try to forget her inhibitions. Paul Henreid plays opposite the star and the cast includes Gladys Cooper as the mother. Claude Rains as a psychiatrist who attempts to help the girl, and Henreid has the part of a lonely young man who meets the traveler aboard ship. Bonita Granville and Ilka Chase are in the cast.

Technicolor Thriller.

Flying scenes with cadets from four corners of the globe lend authenticity to the Madison attraction, "Thunder Birds," a technicolor film shot at Arizona's famed Thunderbird and Falcon fields. Preston Foster, John Sutton and Gene Tierney are in the cast and John Gunther, war correspondent, gives an introduction and epilogue to the picture that imparts something of the seriousness of the work being done at the flying fields throughout the United States. Foster appears as a flying instructor, Sutton as an English cadet, and Miss Tierney as the girl they both hope to win. "Berlin Correspondent," with Dana Andrews and Virginia Gilmore is the co-feature.

Smalltown Comedy.

The story of a talented housemaid who devotes her spare time to writing a book concerning the society bigwigs for whom she works is told in the romantic comedy drama, "The Affairs of Martha," opening today at the Ritz. Marsha Hunt has the title role and the cast includes Richard Carlson and Marjorie Main. Carlson plays the role of the maid's husband who unbeknown to his wife, belongs to the society set. "Law of the Timber," a James Oliver Curwood story, is the second picture. Marjorie Reynolds and Monte Blue are featured.

Aerial Drama.

Story of the American Volunteer Corps organized by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek to bag Jap planes in the Burma skyways, "Flying Tigers," at the Park features John Wayne, John Carroll and Anna Lee. Wayne has the role of a squadron leader whose men include a cocky flier who wins the ill will of his fellows by his egotism. John Loder has the latter role. Thrilling scenes fill the picture. "Hi Neighbor," the second feature, presents Jean Parker and John Archer and an array of radio entertainers including Lulubelle and Scotty.

NOW CAR OWNERS CAN BUY THE NEW Firestone WAR TIRE

YES—It's true! If your present tires cannot be recapped, you are eligible to apply for a certificate to buy the new Firestone War Tire no matter whether you hold an "A", "B" or "C" gasoline ration book.

The new Firestone War Tire is now on sale at all Firestone Dealers and Firestone Stores. Its construction has been tested and proved by more than two years of service. Naturally, you'd expect Firestone to build the best War Tire that can be built, because Firestone has always been a pioneer in developing new processes and creating new products made from rubber. And with its unequalled background of experience in building tires that successfully withstand the most gruelling tests of durability and safety, it is not surprising that Firestone is building a War Tire with such exclusive features as:

Safti-Lock, Gum-Dipped Cord Body — same construction that has made Firestone Tires so strong, so safe, so durable on the road as well as on the Speedway. The body of the new Firestone War Tire is built to outwear several treads and can be recapped for thousands of miles of extra service.

Firestone Non-Skid Tread — famous for performance and protection against skidding.

Vitamic Rubber — made by adding a new wear-resisting rubber vitamin, called "Vitalin."

If your present tires can be recapped — be sure to have them recapped by the Firestone Factory Controlled Method. Firestone has the largest system of recapping shops in America, strategically located to give you better service. This nation-wide system is strictly supervised and uniform in workmanship. For longer mileage, bring your tires to us for recapping.

COME IN AND SEE IT! The new Firestone War Tire is now ready for the car owners of America. Come in and see it. We will be glad to help you make out an application for a tire rationing certificate.

PROTECT YOUR TIRE MILEAGE with Firestone LIFE PROTECTORS

For longer mileage and greater safety, equip every tire with a Firestone Life Protector. This amazing double-chambered tube keeps your tire inflated in event of a puncture or a blowout, so that you can stop safely without cutting or slashing the precious tire. Any certificate for a new tube entitles you to buy a Life Protector.

Better Balance Continues In War Production; Talk of Shortages Fades.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Slightly lower prices predominated in today's early stock market dealings.

At a quiet opening losers of fractions included Bethlehem, Westinghouse, Texas Co., Anaconda, Consolidated Edison, J. C. Penney and Boeing. Moderately higher were American Telephone, Cheaspeake & Ohio and Kennecott.

Boardrooms studied the survey of the magazine "Steel" which said that signs of better balancing of war production continued to accumulate and less talk was heard regarding shortages of critical materials.

"Ingots and billets," the review added, "actually are piling up here and there."

BLOCK-BUSTERS CRASH ON ITALY

RAF Emphasizes Churchill Warning, 'Get Out of War' With Heavy New Raid.

shot down over France on the way home.

The RAF did not detail today, in its first announcement of the Sunday night raids, their targets. There was some indication that the bombers might have gone again to Turin, for the German radio at Berlin said this morning that the "latest RAF unit raid did not hit the Turin or Milan objectives but damaged civilian areas and works of art.

The tonnage of explosives dropped on Turin Saturday night was comparable to that in the heaviest raids on Germany, aside from those of 1,000-plane size.

It was the 23rd air attack on Turin and the second in eight days.

An exchange Telegraph report from Zurich this morning said Turin was still aflame Sunday night.

The Italian high command conceded that damage was "huge."

Repeat Churchill's Warning To Italy

LONDON —(U.P.)— British radios broadcast again and again today Prime Minister Winston Churchill's solemn warning to Italy to overthrow Benito Mussolini and his Fascist regime and sue for a separate peace or endure a merciless, shattering Allied air attack from North Africa.

The prime minister hazarded a guarded suggestion that the war might end in Europe first. If it did, he promised, "We should at once bring all our forces to the other side of the world to the aid of the United States, to the aid of China and above all to our kith and kin in Australia and New Zealand."

While the Japanese were being beaten, he said, the Allies, still bound in the comradeship of warriors, could start to discuss the fate of Europe. He suggested that such a peace conference, while a Pacific war still raged, would be better than the last one when all sense of danger had passed.

Churchill devoted the first part of his speech to Africa, speaking of the British drive in Libya and the gigantic United States-British landings in northwest Africa.

". . . We intend and I will go so far as to say we expect, to expel the enemy (from Africa) before long," he continued. "But Africa is no halting place. It is not a seat but a springboard. We will use Africa only to come to closer grips . . . We open the air battle upon a new front."

Now, he said, the Allies could "bring the weight of the war home to the Italian Fascist state in a manner not hitherto dreamed of by its guilty leaders, or still less by the unfortunate people Mussolini has led, exploited and disgraced."

He promised that all southern Italy, "all the naval bases, all the munition establishments and other military objectives wherever situated will be brought under prolonged, scientific and shattering air attack."

The Rome radio said Churchill's speech would make no impression on the Italian people.

"The Italian people have taken up arms of their own free will," Rome said, "and will not give way to either the menaces of aerial bombardments or other trials which fate might reserve for them.

GET ORDERS ON GAS COUPONS

Rationing Officials Announce Validity Dates; 'Fill 'er Up' Orders End Tonight.

cepted for obtaining gasoline in December and January.

Coupons No. 4 will be valid in February and March.

Coupons No. 5 will get you gas in April and May.

Coupons No. 6 will get you gas in June and up to July 23 when you will renew your application for a basic mileage ration book.

Chairman W. J. Spreng of the gas panel announced that B books, tailored to time, will vary but will have to be applied for again March 1.

C-book life terminates March 1, at which time the holder will be required to re-state his or her needs.

The D-book issued for motorcycles covers the basic mileage A book and the B and C book provisions and subject to their regulations.

Truck owners who have not received their certificates of war necessity can file their applications for temporary permits at John Simpson Junior high school gymnasium this afternoon or evening and tomorrow from 10 a. m. to 12 noon when a skeleton staff will be present.

The Mohican building office of the gas panel will be open daily, beginning Wednesday, in charge of Miss Ruth Miller and hours will be 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. The panel plans an early session to consider appeals and to correct errors made in rationing grants.

Today's final registration of passenger car operators, the T-Z group, ended a week's work in considering applications for B and C extra gas ration books, the panel anticipating that most of the 9,244 who obtained A books will have asked for additional motor fuel allowances.

Announcement came from Washington today that the Office of Price Administration is moving toward rigid enforcement of the rationing regulations as 18,000,000 more drivers joined those of eastern states who went under short rations last summer.

It is announced that OPA investigators will check the reports of station operators who certify the amount of gas on hand as of 12.01 a. m. tomorrow. Local weights and measures inspectors and others will be apt to swoop down on stations for immediate checks of registration figures.

Coffee sales were resumed yesterday and today by retail dealers after a week's freeze to permit the cup-a-day rationing machinery to be perfected.

Liquor stores in Mansfield and over Ohio were limiting retail and wholesale quantities to purchasers today, following last week's announcement of a diminishing supply in state warehouses.

Surveys are being made this week to limit meat consumption in Ohio homes.

Christmas candy makers are hopeful of a bonus in their December sugar rations.

Sets Up Plan For Emergency Gas

Emergency gasoline issues for carrying injured or sick persons to physicians' offices or hospitals and certain other "acute needs" arising during the rationing period are provided for in an announcement by the gasoline panel of the Richland county rationing board.

Filling station operators are asked to obtain necessary blanks for emergency issues at the rationing board office, 43 North Mulberry street. The station keeper is auth

Gas Rationing Creates City Bus Jam

TRANSIT FIRM SEES BIGGER PUZZLE AHEAD

Hundreds Leave Cars at Home on First Day of Curtailed Sale of Gasoline.

BUS SYSTEM STRAINED

Deadline Limit Ordered on Special Transfers For School Pupils.

First day of gasoline rationing brought on a major transportation problem for Mansfield as hundreds of auto owners left their cars at home and rode down town by bus—if they could find one with seats available.

The Mansfield Rapid Transit company had 19 buses in operation to carry peak loads in the morning rush period. All were crowded to the doors by the time they reached down town destinations.

"The rationing program has put a great strain on the entire system," G. F. VanTilburg, Transit superintendent, admitted. "Twelve buses are in operation throughout the day and early evening but seven additional are available for use on busy routes between 6 and 8 a. m."

VanTilburg added that the problem will become more complex in the future when more auto owners refrain from driving. He pointed out that many filled up their gas tanks yesterday and probably will use their cars for the next few days.

"We are not permitted to purchase additional buses. If Mansfield had a major war plant, that restriction would be lifted and we could obtain additional ones. Of course, a major war plant and the more workers it would involve, would create a problem, too."

If the future results in more congestion, the only solution will be fewer bus stops, he said. If down town shoppers do their business between the hours of 9 a. m. and 3 p. m., it would help considerably to ease the situation.

School children will be required

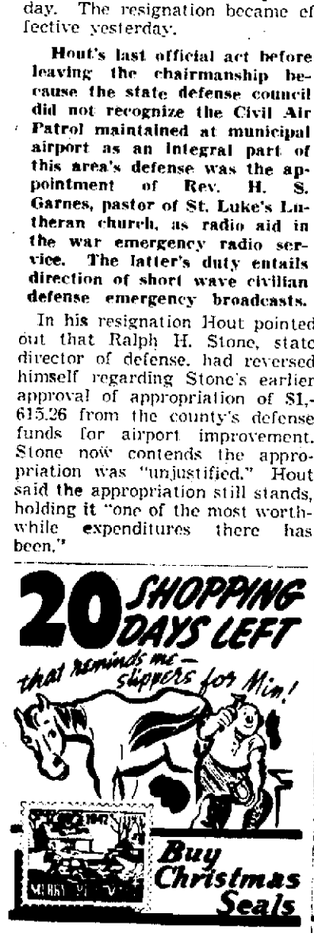
Resignation Of Defense Chief In Hands Of Board

The resignation of Ray Hout as chairman of Richland County Council of Defense, was formally submitted to county commissioners yesterday but no formal action regarding its acceptance had been taken by officials as yet today. The resignation became effective yesterday.

Hout's last official act before leaving the chairmanship because the state defense council did not recognize the Civil Air Patrol maintained at municipal airport as an integral part of this area's defense was the appointment of Rev. H. S. Garnes, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran church, as radio aid in the war emergency radio service. The latter's duty entails direction of short wave civilian defense emergency broadcasts.

In his resignation Hout pointed out that Ralph H. Stone, state director of defense, had reversed himself regarding Stone's earlier approval of appropriation of $1,-615.26 from the county's defense funds for airport improvement. Stone now contends the appropriation was "unjustified." Hout said the appropriation still stands, holding it "one of the most worthwhile expenditures there has been."



Bags 70,000 Tons of Jap Sea Strength

American Sub Skipper Comes Home With Heroic Story.

(By International News Service)

PEARL HARBOR — Witness to a Sunday horse-race outside a leading Japanese city and justly proud of his "bag" of 12 enemy merchant ships sunk or damaged, an American submarine commander relaxed at Pearl Harbor today and re-lived for correspondents an astonishing story of the sea.

He was Lieut. Commander Thomas D. Klakring of Annapolis, officially credited with sinking 70,-000 tons of Japanese shipping which makes him top man in America's Pacific undersea fleet.

Safely back in port for overhauling of his craft, Commander Klakring told modestly how he had raised havoc with the enemy within shouting distance of the Japanese shore.

For the benefit of his crew deep in the bowels of his "pigboat" he set up a loud-speaker system to describe the various torpedoings and even let them take turns at the periscope—a hitherto unheard of privilege.

Eight Japanese ships definitely sunk and four others damaged, with a troop transport that may have been loaded with enemy soldiers among the kill, represented the fruits of Klakring's Pacific sortie.

He and his crew told of chasing one Japanese convoy directly into a Nipponese harbor, where all relaxed from war chores on a sunny afternoon to watch a horse race through binoculars.

Bets were laid in due fashion, but in spite of sharp eyes and good lenses, the winner could not be spotted.

"We bet on the ponies," Commander Klakring said somewhat ruefully. "But we were just a little too far away to see who won."

Pearl Harbor has feted many heroes in the almost-a-year since Japan started the war by attacking this Hawaiian base. But Klakring's sea saga just about rang the bell all around.

One enemy ship was torpedoed in a Japanese harbor, and four

FDR Favors Income Limit on Investments, Report.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Roosevelt plans to ask the new congress to extend the $25,000 net salary limitations to investment income, beginning in 1943.

An informed official who could not be quoted by name said today the president believed that all types of earnings should be limited for the duration but had omitted investment income from his executive order because he was informed the wage stabilization act gave him no authority in that field.

Despite criticisms in congress, the president was expected to recommend that the problem be handled through taxation in the next revenue bill, thus bringing the whole question squarely before congress.

3-Year-Old Warning To Night Club Bared

Fire Hazards Pointed Out; Given Clean Bill Last Week.

BULLETIN

BOSTON — (U.P.) — The Boston licensing board, on recommendation of Gov. Leverett Saltonstall, today suspended the licenses of all night clubs, taverns and other entertainment resorts pending the outcome of the Cocoanut Grove holocaust investigation.

(By International News Service)

BOSTON — Three years ago the Coccanut Grove was branded a "tinder box" with very bad exits but only a week before it was swept by fire which claimed 449 lives it was termed in good condition by a Boston fire department inspector.

This was disclosed today by one of the four agencies investigating the week-end holocaust with a definite pledge that any criminal negligence will be prosecuted.

Responsible officials expect the death toll, revised downward as a result of an official recheck, to soar toward the 500 mark as several of the 172 persons still in hospitals are in a critical condition and not expected to live.

Testimony at an inquest revealed that in its inspection a week ago the Boston fire department decided that no inflammable decorations existed in the swanky night club and that there were sufficient exits and fire extinguishers.

However, one of the investigat-

PEARL HARBOR TALE COMING UP

OWI To Tell Details of Jap Attack on Its Anniversary.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox said today that the "full story" of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor will be released by the Office of War Information on the Dec. 7 anniversary.

"Will it be a complete disclosure?" he was asked.

"No," he replied.

He explained that there were still certain facts the Japanese would like to know, and the navy is not going to tell the enemy about them—yet.

BODY AWAITED

Remains of Mansfield Fire Victim Still in Boston.

Although preparations were under way today to return the body of Howard A. Guy, 37, Mansfield victim of the Boston night club fire, to the Wappner funeral home here for services, the body is not expected to arrive for several days.

The funeral home here has wired for the release of the body, but had received no reply at noon today. Overcrowding of funeral homes and morgues in Boston and the general confusion which followed the catastrophe probably will delay release of the body, it was said.

The victim was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Guy, 136 Sturgess avenue, was a pianist employed in the Melody Lounge of the Cocoanut Grove club.

CLEVELAND — (U.P.) — Thomas C. Maxwell, 73, former head of the mathematics department of old McKinley high school in Canton, died yesterday.

CONTINUE CHECK OF NIGHT SPOTS

Firemen Report No Hazards Uncovered as Yet But Keep on Going.

Rigid inspections of Mansfield night clubs and amusement centers thus far have revealed no fire hazards, according to Fire Chief Charles J. Seeburger, but inspectors are continuing the cellar-to-attic probes to avert any local replica of the Boston night club tragedy.

Declaring that the second floor ceiling of a downtown third-floor night club is of fireproofed cloth texture, Seeburger announced that the proprietor acted within state fire code regulations when he installed the material to hide bare rafters.

Seeburger's investigation of conditions today followed an inspection yesterday by Fireman Ray Underwood. Otherwise, Seeburger said, the club has the required number of exits.

Firemen Leo Jones today continued inspection of clubs and other places of public assembly. Generally, the inspectors told Chief Seeburger, night clubs are eliminating holiday decorations and that places employing artificial adornment are avoiding use of inflamable material.

Seeburger was advised by Grattan Johnson, manager of Warner Brothers theaters here, that the Ohio, Majestic and Madison theaters are being rigidly inspected this week in addition to the routine weekly search for fire hazards.

Other theaters indicated that "basement to belfry" inspections were being made at their auditoriums. All Ohio Chambers of Commerce were urged today by George B. Chandler, executive vice president of the Ohio chamber, to demand inspection of all night clubs and amusement halls.

CHIEF AIMS AT OPERATION OF BINGO 'CLUBS'

Instructs Officers To Get Warrants, Let Courts Decide Validity.

BANS MONEY BOARDS

Chief, Admitting Gambling's 'Tough Nut,' Takes New Steps to Curb It.

With "tip" sheets, coin-award punch boards and other gambling devices paying cash ordered out of operation yesterday, Police Chief Thomas M. Bell today ordered police to obtain warrants for the arrest of bingo game operators and the seizure of gaming tables and other equipment.

"Hereafter the courts will have to decide if bingo or other games are sponsored by regularly chartered or incorporated clubs," Chief Bell declared. He called attention to city ordinances which empower police to break down doors and to confiscate and destroy gambling equipment.

"I'm tired of false claims of club operation and whatnot," Chief Bell continued. "I know gambling in all its ramifications is a tough nut to crack. I've never knowingly given my consent to anyone to violate the law. I'd rather quit while trying to enforce the law than to quit without trying.

"There may be efforts to dislodge me but so long as I'm in the saddle I'll do my own riding."

Chief Bell did not elaborate on who might resent his anti-gambling declarations.

Today's edict followed Saturday night bingo operations at the Playtime, 211 Park avenue east, and Radio City hall, in the basement of 64 North Walnut street. Chif Bell had been told the Townsend club would meet at the latter place Saturday night but was irked by reports that the crowds attending were in proportions of a "tri-state convention" and that the number calling was heard out on the street.

Police yesterday were detailed to visit all newsstands and other places selling tip sheets carrying cash awards to warn against their continuance. Restaurants and other businesses displaying cash-

Yule Savings Club Members Receive $200,000.

Christmas checks totalling nearly $200,000 were being delivered by mailmen today to members of Christmas Savings clubs of four Mansfield banks.

While this year's figures were, in most cases, slightly under those of last year, all banks reported that a majority of the accounts had been paid in full.

Officials of the banks stated today they believed the total was smaller this year due to the purchase of War bonds.

Hitler Appeals For Nazi Stand To Hold Rzhev

Reds Continue To Beat Off Nazis' Counter Attack Against Lines.

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW — Adolf Hitler's own appeal was reported today to be spurring the Nazis in a desperate but unsuccessful fight to recapture railway lines south of Rzhev and southwest of Velikie Luki on the central Russian front west of Moscow.

So vital is Rzhev to the Germans' vast network of communications, said Red Star, that Hitler telegraphed his commander there emphasizing the threat to the city and warning that "the loss of Rzhev is equal to the loss of half of Berlin."

Every thrust in a new series of counter-attacks was beaten off, the army newspaper said.

Axis troops trapped before Stalingrad also were counter-attacking, but there, too, Russian reports said, stiffening German resistance had failed to stem the Red army's drives.

With another 2,500 invaders listed by the noon communique as killed in overnight fighting, Red Star said German losses in dead were close to 125,000 on the two fronts. (The toll announced in communiques so far, however, totaled only 91,550.)

Within Stalingrad itself, the Soviet garrison was said to be making slow but steady progress in heavy fighting.

Northwest of Stalingrad, German transport planes were said to have dropped food and munitions to encircled garrisons.

The Russians said Nazi officers were trying to conceal from their men that they were cut off. However, these probably were isolated — though strong — enemy units, and Soviet dispatches did not intimate that the whole enemy army had been surrounded between the Volga and the Don.

Snow and fog hampered air operations in that area.

The Germans were reported to have developed fortifications in great depth to wall off Rzhev, but the Red army was said to be penetrating them with artillery

Drive To Cut Off Land Route To Tripoli Gains More Ground.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Allied columns, striking across Tunisia under skies being rapidly cleared of the enemy air force, steadily are lengthening two wedges aimed at separating Axis forces in Tunis and Bizerte and cutting them off from their last land route to Tripoli, it was announced at Allied headquarters in North Africa.

One British and American force was reported today stabbing close to the coast, only a few miles short of its goal of severing the last highway communication left to the enemy garrisons at Bizerte and Tunis.

Another force of Americans and Free Frenchmen was plunging toward the coast farther to the south in a race to seize the Tunis-Tripoli road skirting the Mediterranean shore in east central Tunisia.

Allied air strength is mounting by the hour, it was reported authoritatively, and the German air force was declared on the downgrade after being soundly thrashed in clashes thus far with Allied airmen.

Despite the growing Allied command of the air, this source, who could not be identified by name, stressed that much bitter fighting still is expected before the Germans and Italians finally are thrown out of North Africa.

Bizerte got its usual shower of Allied bombs overnight, the Algiers radio announced, with docks of the sprawling naval base the chief target. Four German planes were destroyed and one Allied craft was lost.

Continuing their aerial assaults on the other end of the Axis Mediterranean supply line, the British announced new raids against Sicily and an enemy merchant ship was reported hit yesterday off the island of Pantelleria, between Tunis and Sicily.

In a left-handed admission that the Axis was on the defensive in Tunisia, Rome announced that air-supported Axis armored forces "resisted Anglo-

AGGRAVATED: Mussolini Reported To Be Seriously Ill

(By United Press)

LONDON—Continental reports reaching unofficial quarters in London today said that Premier Benito Mussolini was seriously ill, further aggravating the already tense Italian war situation.

The reports had no official confirmation but said that il duce had been confined to bed for two weeks. The nature of his ailment was not disclosed but it was described as serious. It had been reported intermittently for several years that Mussolini was suffering from a chronic heart ailment.

A grave illness for Mussolini at this time would strike Italy at a critical hour now that it has been officially singled out as the target of an expected Allied offensive.

Reports on conditions within Italy since the opening of the African offensive have left little or no doubt that morale is deteriorating sharply and there have been increasing signs of Nazi concern over the weak link in the Axis partnership.

Should illness or death remove Mussolini from active leadership at this time the results might, it was said, prove so far-reaching as to provide the determining factor in any Allied offensive to knock Italy out of the war.

Northern Italy is already under heavy RAF bombardment—an attack so heavy that reports from some European quarters assert that panic and nervousness are

SMASH: Aussies Split Jap Garrison On New Guinea Beach

(By International News Service)

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA—Allied troops in southeast New Guinea have smashed their way onto the beach between Gona and Buna to split the Japanese garrisons holding out against Australian and American forces on the coast, an official communique disclosed today.

(A Reuter dispatch from an advanced base in New Guinea said that Australian troops, rushing ahead in the face of machine-gun fire, had gained a position from which they are now ready for a final assault on the sole remaining position in the Gona area.)

The 15-mile Jap communication line between Gona and Sanananda was cut when the Allies reached the beach area southeast of Gona and north of Buna.

The communique from Allied headquarters related that fighting in the coastal area was growing increasingly more intense but said that the Americans and Australians were pressing slowly forward.

Fighting was said to be in progress within 100 yards of the Jap base at Gona.

A dogfight over the battle area resulted in the destruction of seven Japanese Zero fighter planes out of a force of 12. Two Allied planes were shot down but the pilots parachuted to safety.

The heaviest ground fighting,

Air Raid Sirens to Scream Reminder Of Pearl Harbor, Bond Sale Campaign

Plans Are Completed for City-Wide Alert at 7 P. M. Sunday.

Screaming air raid sirens Sunday evening and Monday noon, vividly recalling the horror of Japan's surprise attack on Hawaii one year ago, will inspire Mansfielders to Remember Pearl Harbor—and Buy Bonds.

Plans were completed last night by civilian defense leaders for the test mobilization of all protective units when an alert is sounded at 7 p. m. Sunday to launch distribution of bond-buying pledges to every home, hotel or other residence in Mansfield and suburban area.

An "all clear" signal will be sounded only after all sector posts report to a full-staffed control center in City Hall that contact has been gained with every prospective purchaser in the area.

Joining of the bond-buying offensive will be announced by a commemorative air raid alert at 12:25 p. m. Monday and the all-clear signal which will follow a two-minute tribute of silence designed as a memorial to those who died at Pearl Harbor and since.

Banks and other bond-selling depots will devote the afternoon to receiving the bond-buying pledges, 12,000 in all, which will be distributed Sunday evening. The News-Journal of Dec. 13, carrying the name of every Mansfield purchaser, will be

CHAPTER XXX

Over and over again the scene was rehearsed. Then they "took" it.

Maybe she would be better in the next scene.

Livia had to rush up to her husband and throw out everything he had put in his bag. Her face was nervously distorted—right for the scene.

"Print it," Charles cried after one "take."

Bruce slipped quietly away after that. He had a lot to do—chiefly to find Al Jonas. But first he went to the jail.

"You can't see Earl Dixon," he was told.

"Why not?"

"He's seriously ill—brain fever. They've removed him to the infirmary. It looks like he'll beat the chair."

"I hope so, poor devil," Bruce said and walked slowly away. It would be the best way out for Dixon. But what of Livia?

The story of Dixon's illness was in the afternoon papers. There was another item that made Bruce stop short. The police were looking for Al Jonas. The mayor of Los Angeles was demanding a showdown on the race-track racket. A jockey had given information of widespread race fixing. Al Jonas was named as ringleader.

"I've got to find him before the police do," Bruce thought. Jonas was the type of criminal who would sink everyone on board with him. The paper Livia had signed must not be found by the police.

Bruce called at the prison infirmary and insisted on seeing Dixon.

"He's raving. It won't do you any good," said the man in the hospital office.

"If he's as sick as you say, it won't make him worse if I sit with him."

Bruce had been shadowed ever since his visit to Terry Davidson in the Los Angeles shop. It would help his plan if the men shadowing him reported to their boss—Al Jonas—that Bruce had been with the delirious man.

He stayed there 30 minutes. Then he went back to the set, noting that the men still followed him. Livia had seen the newspaper and was crying.

"I'm afraid I'm licked," Fordyce told Bruce helplessly.

"When does Alice Delaware start?" Bruce asked.

"Tomorrow—and there's nothing I can do now to stop it."

"Give Livia another day," Bruce pleaded.

"I've already jeopardized the picture," Fordyce said, "Sorry, can't do it."

"Not even if I guarantee that by this time tomorrow she'll be all right?"

"Sorry, no can do."

Livia joined them.

"It's hopeless, Bruce," she said. "I'm through, and we all know it."

"'Fraid so, Livia," Fordyce said kindly, "I'm as disappointed as you are."

"Promise me one thing," Bruce persisted.

"If I can," said Fordyce cautiously. Bruce took him aside.

"Don't use Alice until 12 o'clock tomorrow."

"All right—but that's final."

Bruce walked slowly away from the studio gates.

"Better get in my car," a voice said quietly. Bruce felt a hard substance pressed against his side. Bruce recognized George Maxwell, husband of Livia's sister, Vera, as one of the two men.

"What on earth are you doing here?" Bruce exclaimed. George looked at him contemptuously and did not reply. They drove away.

They drove to a narrow street near the ocean at Santa Monica and stopped in front of a frame house.

The three men mounted the precarious wooden stairs. A small aperture in a closed door slid open, and a dark eye filled it.

The door was opened. Al Jonas went back to the army cot against one of the sound-proofed walls.

"Things must be tough when you have to hide in this dump," Bruce said pleasantly. He put his hand to his pockets and found himself looking into the muzzle of a gun, held by George Maxwell, the husband of Livia's sister, Vera.

"I was only going to roll a cigaret," Bruce said calmly.

"Let him have his cigaret," said Jonas benignly.

They waited while Bruce spilled the tobacco carefully on the thin paper.

"Too bad about Earl Dixon, hey?" Jonas said quietly. Bruce lit his cigaret.

He wanted a confession of murder from Jonas. Then he had to get away. Both seemed hopeless. There was a window, but it was high and barred. Maxwell guarded the door.

"There is only one way to deal with people who stick their nose into other people's business," said Al pleasantly. "Too bad you couldn't leave Earl Dixon to die nicely and without any trouble."

"Did you kill the policeman?"

"And if I did—so what?"

Bruce wasn't sure. If he couldn't leave this room alive, what difference did any of it make?

"Stand over there," Jonas barked. He jerked his head to one side of the room. "Go on," he said as Bruce hesitated, vainly seeking a way out.

"They tell me it doesn't hurt at all," Jonas said pleasantly.

Bruce started to walk slowly to the wall.

"Have you a last message for your—Livia?" Jonas laughed.

Bruce suddenly flung himself on Jonas. A shot rang out. The ape-man's face twisted grotesquely, and he pitched forward with out-stretched arms flailing the air. The man who had fired the shot said:

"I aimed at the other guy." He screamed as Jonas pulled the trigger of his gun three times. The two men lay still.

"The car's outside," Maxwell said to Bruce, "I'll join you in a minute."

Bruce raced the car engine. The waiting seemed interminable, but only a minute had elapsed before George appeared.

They kept to the coastline, heading south.

During the fast ride, George explained the mysterious actions that had worried his wife and Livia. He was a member of the Jonas gang. And had been double-crossed by him when he left the United States for Mexico. He had come back for revenge, nullifying suspicion by a scheme for a race-track deal at Caliente.

"The easiest thing in the world is to fool a smart guy," George said. They were now at San Diego. "And this is where you get out."

"Sure you'll be all right the rest of the way?" Bruce said. He was in a hurry to get back to Los Angeles. "That paper Livia signed—" he said to George.

"If you look in my left pocket, you'll find it," he replied. "It's my present to her—mine and Vera's. And now, so long."

He started the car. "Tell Livia we'll be back soon—when this blows over."

Bruce watched him drive away. He hired a car to take him back to Los Angeles.

It was 2 a. m. when he arrived at Livia's house. It was in darkness. He decided to let her sleep. His good news could wait until morning.

The early newspaper editions carried the account of the killing of Jonas and the discovery of an unsigned document denouncing Jonas as the murderer of the dead policeman and exonerating Earl Dixon. There was no mention of Maxwell or Bruce.

Livia's face was pale and there were dark circles under her eyes.

"It's no use," she said as Bruce briskly pulled up the Venetian blinds in her bedroom, "I'm out. I called Charles last night."

"You're going to call him right back now—and tell him you'll be ready to work—and I mean work—at nine this morning."

He gave her the document she had signed for Al Jonas.

"I think," he said smiling at her expression of wonder, "I think we can burn this now. Have you a match?" She pointed silently to a box on the table. And watched the paper vanish into a blackened ash.

"Did Jonas—" she began.

"He's dead," Bruce told her. "Shot by one of his own men." He decided to say nothing about George.

"How do you know—and the paper?" He handed her the newspaper.

"What a nightmare," she sighed. "But you still haven't explained about the paper. How—?" He looked at his watch.

"You'll be late if you don't hurry. I'll call Fordyce."

"What d'ye think a studio is—something that can be pushed around every time a girl changes her mind?" Charles said over the phone. He was exasperated. Who did Nolan think he was calling him so damned early in the morning?

"I tell you everything is all right," Bruce said.

There was still Dixon himself to be reckoned with, of course, but this now seemed easy. And whether he lived or died, Livia would now be protected.

"If you don't put Livia back in the picture, I'll marry her today," Bruce said.

"Go ahead," Fordyce said. But Bruce knew he had touched the weak spot in the director's armor. "Let me talk to her," Charles said abruptly.

"I understand you're getting married today," he said to her. Livia laughed. It was the first laugh from her heart in several weeks. "You sound happy," he said morosely.

"I could out-act Bernhardt," she said.

"You'd better get to the studio before Alice Delaware does!"

"I'm on my way," she sang.

She flung her arms around Bruce's neck and kissed him.

"What's that about marrying me today?" she asked.

"And let Alice Delaware take the picture? No!"

Intuition must have warned Alice that all was not well. She had gone to the studio at 7 a. m. and so missed the director's call to her house. She was sitting in Smithy's chair when Livia and Bruce arrived, and stared without speaking at their happy faces.

Livia and Bruce went outside to discuss the situation.

On Inside Back Cover—sign your name and address in the spaces provided.

On Back of Coupons—the license number of your car and the name of the state issuing the license must be written in ink on the back of each coupon before the gasoline dealer can accept it. EXAMPLE: XX-700 Ohio.

(In the case of official or fleet vehicles, write in the official or fleet designation (or in case of a commercial vehicle, write in the Certificate of War Necessity Number if there is no fleet designation) and state and city in which principal office of fleet operator is located.)

(In the case of E and R books, or bulk coupons, simply sign your name and address on the back of the coupons as it appears on the front cover of the ration book.)

Ration Sticker—every holder of an A, B, C, or T ration book (except one representing a Special Ration) must display on his car the sticker identifying his class of ration. Persons having a ration above Class A should only display the sticker identifying the higher classification.

In Ohio, the law calls for stickers to be placed in the lower right hand corner of the windshield.

DETACHED COUPONS ARE VOID

Only the dealer who sells gasoline to you may detach the coupons from your book. Any coupons you remove yourself become void, and he is not permitted to accept them.

COUPONS GOOD ONLY FOR SPECIFIED PERIODS

"A" Book. Contains 4 pages, each consisting of 8 coupons. Coupons on each page bear a different number, and are good only during specified periods, as follows:

No. 3 COUPONS—
Good only through Jan. 21, 1943
No. 4 COUPONS—
Good only from Jan. 22 through Mar. 21, 1943
No. 5 COUPONS—
Good only from Mar. 22 through May 21, 1943
No. 6 COUPONS—
Good only from May 22 through July 21, 1943

NOTE: Coupons may be used only during the specified periods—with no overlapping.

All Other Ration Classifications. Coupons are good at any time up to expiration date shown on front cover of ration book.

HOW THE COUPONS WORK

When you go to a dealer to get gasoline, tell him how much gasoline you want and hand your coupon book to him.

He is required to check the license number appearing on the coupon book against your license plates. He must also check the sticker on your car to see that it covers the type of ration book that you present—and must check the back of the coupons to see that you have written in the required data (as explained above in the section headed "On Back of Coupons").

The dealer then detaches the proper number of coupons from your book to cover the amount of gasoline ordered before the gasoline is put in your tank.

The dealer is not allowed to sell you gasoline unless all of these conditions are met.

How Many? Your coupons may be used in any manner you wish—one at a time or several at a time—within the period during which they are valid.

Unused Coupons. Any coupons which are not used prior to the fixed expiration date are void and are to be returned to your Ration Board within 5 days after their expiration date.

Don't over-order. Before getting gasoline, always be sure your tank will hold the amount ordered—because the dealer detaches the coupons before the gas is put in, and they then become void.

If you order less gasoline than the amount allowed per coupon, the dealer must still detach the full coupon.

LOST OR DESTROYED COUPONS

Guard your book carefully. If it is lost, stolen or destroyed, conclusive evidence and affidavits are required by the Rationing Board before you can secure a duplicate.

Any coupon book or coupons you may find should be turned in to a Ration Board within 5 days for return to the owner or proper disposal.

IF YOU DISPOSE OF YOUR CAR

Your ration book is not transferable. If you sell your car, or it goes out of service, the book must be turned over to your Local Board within 5 days.

IF YOU BUY A CAR AFTER RATIONING BEGINS

Go to your local Rationing Board to make an application for a coupon book for that car.

IN CASE OF EMERGENCY

If you run out of gasoline on the road, you may obtain gasoline in a container from a dealer by leaving your ration book with him until you return to the station.

If you require gasoline to meet an emergency involving serious threat to life, health or property, you may obtain it from a dealer by signing an Emergency Receipt on the official OPA form provided for that purpose.

CHANGE IN STATUS

Holders of other than basic "A" rations are required to surrender any coupons and books they hold, in the event the use for which those rations were issued ceases. This must be done within 5 days of such date at the issuing Board. Similarly, if a change in status qualifies you for additional rations, you may apply to your Local Board at any time.

RENEWAL OF RATIONS

Application for renewal of a B, C, T or other supplemental ration may be made at any time within 30 days prior to the expiration date of that ration.

DENIAL OF RATIONS

A gasoline ration may be denied any person who refuses to surrender a ration card, book, coupon or other evidences upon direction of the Board—or for failure or refusal, without showing good cause, to appear before the Board for examination when so requested.

HOW REGULAR TIRE INSPECTION AFFECTS YOUR GASOLINE AND TIRE RATIONS

Rationing regulations require that you have your tires inspected regularly by an official OPA inspection station. Many SOHIO Stations are authorized as official stations.

You must keep your Tire Inspection Record (the slip showing your tire numbers, which you received when you applied for a gas rationing coupon book) in your car at all times.

First passenger car tire inspection period is between December 1, 1942, and January 31, 1943, during which time all vehicles must have their tires inspected by an authorized OPA inspector.

After the first inspection, A and basic-D drivers must have tires inspected every 4 months with inspections at least 60 days apart. B, C, and supplemental-D drivers must have tires inspected every 2 months with inspections at least 30 days apart.

Cost of inspection—a charge of 25c per vehicle is permitted if no tires are removed. 50c per tire is allowed if it is necessary that they be removed. If tires are okay, the inspector will sign your Record. If he finds repairs to tires, tubes, or vehicle necessary for tire conservation, he is not allowed to sign the Record until you carry out the recommendations.

The tire inspector may recommend a recap — in which case the tire must be removed from the wheel to complete the inspection. If your tire is not fit for recapping, he may recommend replacement. In all cases, he is required to report any evidence of tire abuse to the Local Board.

You apply to your Local Board for a Rationing Certificate if the inspector recommends a recapping service for your tire, or a new or used tire or tube. These cannot be obtained without a Rationing Certificate.

SPECIAL NOTE: Commercial Vehicles. Periodic tire inspections are required every 5,000 miles or every 60 days, whichever comes first, beginning November 15, 1942.

BE CAREFUL! Rationing Boards are empowered to deny both gasoline and tires to car owners who—

- —Violate the 35-mile-per-hour speed limit, or are found to be guilty of any form of tire abuse.
- —Fail to have Official Tire Inspections made at the times specified.
- —Transfer gasoline to or from the tanks of their cars in violation of the regulations under which their ration was issued.
- —Or any other violation of the rationing regulations.

Come in and ask any questions you may have on gasoline rationing. If we don't know the answers, we'll find out for you. We are ready to help in every way possible to save you trouble—and save your car.

ALLIES WIDEN TWO WEDGES ON AFRICAN FRONT

Clear Air of Enemy Planes, Gain Ground in Effort To Isolate Axis.

American forces on the move in Tunisia."

The Italians acknowledged that the Allies again hammered Sicily from the air, the targets including Palermo, Gela and Trapani.

Ankara dispatches reported that German troops were reaching Greece at the rate of a division—10,000 to 15,000 men—a week to take up the slack left by the rushing of reinforcements to North Africa.

The Berlin radio broadcast a boast that "very considerable reinforcements" of men and heavy arms had reached Marshal Rommel's Africa corps at El Agheila, where he has pulled up after an 800-mile retreat from Egypt.

With the Libyan front fairly quiet it was the Tunisian front which held attention as the showdown approached for that farthest northern tip of Africa.

As the ground forces threaded their way through a maze of German-laid mines, British parachute troops floated down far ahead of them yesterday and seized a small airfield in the Tunis region without opposition from the Axis, military sources in Algeria said.

The Allied blows against the great German-held naval base at Bizerte and the Tunisian capital, Tunis, were expected to fall at any hour. The British and American forces were reported officially within 12 miles of Tunis two days ago and the Berlin radio broadcast a dubious dispatch from Tangier last night saying Bizerte was being shelled by the Allies.

Railroad communication between the two Axis-held cities already has been cut.

British and American tanks, artillery and motorized infantry forces were said to be only a few miles west of the coast road between the two cities and engaged in heavy fighting with German troops. The hammering of the two cities by Allied bombers indicated that the climax of the Tunisian campaign was approaching.

A military spokesman in Algeria said the Germans were using both light and medium tanks with some artillery support. They appeared to lack, he said, the heavy concentrations of mobile artillery used so effectively in earlier Libyan drives by Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, whose battered forces were facing a showdown with the British Eighth army in Libya some 900 miles east of Tunisia.

British Patrols Hit Nazis at El Agheila

CAIRO—(UP)—British combat patrols lashed out at advanced elements on the German Afrika Korps line at El Aghelia today in a prelude to an expected Eighth army drive on Tripoli and a junction with the Allied army sweeping through Tunisia.

"British patrols were active yesterday in the neighborhood of El Aghelia," a communique of the Middle Eastern command reported tersely.

This first news of ground activity after days during which the Eighth army had been impeded by wind, rain and freezing temperature, was believed to herald the approach of a new and probably definite drive.

Orders State of Siege at Toulon

MOSCOW — (INS) — Heinrich Himmler, chief of the German Gestapo, has ordered a state of siege at Toulon and other cities along the French Mediterranean coast, a Tass dispatch from Geneva reported today.

Vast areas will be cleared of all civilians, the dispatch said, and the families of all "unreliable" Frenchmen arested by Nazi occupational authorities will be deported.

Knox Sure French Fleet Was Scuttled

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Secretary of Navy Frank Knox indicated today there was no doubt in his mind that the French fleet had been scuttled at Toulon.

Knox told reporters that he had no further news on the French fleet destruction but that if it were not true "certainly the facts would have come out by now."

Virtually all the information on the scuttling of the French fleet has come from Axis sources.

Farmer Wanted Coal Oil Ration-Not Kerosene.

HUDSON—(AP)—A Twinsburg farmer appeared at the rationing board office and remarked, "I hear you have to get a ration book for coal oil."

A board member spent 45 minutes helping him fill out the application form and concluded, "to get your ration book for kerosene you will have to go to the Hudson town hall."

"Kerosene?" asked the farmer. "Who wants kerosene? I want coal oil!"

paying punch boards also were warned to discontinue.

Jealousy among bingo game operators in mid-September resulted in Chief Bell clamping a lid on the games and brought the declaration "the lid's on, and will stay on."

Two weeks ago the Playtime resumed operations. When the game operator and building owner were brought to the police station they reportedly declared "everything's been fixed upstairs."

Chief Bell, advised of the operation, said he was "dumfounded." In discussing club operation of bingo games, Chief Bell declared "if a club is legitimate and its membership is interested in playing bingo, the patronage will not have to be solicited by mail. When a great many are invited by postcard to a bingo base then it smirks of being a commercial enterprise of a few individuals."

MAKES RECORD SUBMARINE BAG

U. S. Undersea Boat Sinks 70,000 Tons of Japanese Shipping on Cruise.

others were sunk as they were trying to make port with badly needed cargoes of ore.

In its first brush with the enemy the American submarine sank four of six vessels in a convoy trying to make a nearby port. The convoy, escorted by several warships, was sighted at early dawn.

Commander Klakring kept his ship on the surface until he had maneuvered into a good position. Then he submerged and went into the midst of the convoy.

"We fired from the closest possible range, and got two of them," Commander Klakring said. "Then we surfaced so they could see us. Two of the ships fled into a small harbor and we chased them right in.

"This was a bad move for the Japs. One of the ships got in a position where we couldn't get at it, but we caught the other. Our torpedo struck amidship and it went down in 45 seconds. There was no time to launch lifeboats and there were no survivors.

"Then we hightailed out to look for the remaining two ships in the convoy."

Another victim on the cruise was an 8,000-ton transport at the mouth of a harbor of a large Japanese city. One torpedo missed and exploded on the beach, but two hits sent the transport quickly to the bottom of the sea.

Lauds Record of American Submarines

WASHINGTON — (INS) — With nearly 100—Japanese ships and their cargoes rotting on the ocean floors as a result of the fearless operations and accurate shooting of American submarines, Secretary of the Navy Knox today singled out the work of the Yankee undersea craft for special commendation.

"The submarines are doing a grand job," the head of the navy declared, as the American subs continue to take a heavy toll of Japanese shipping in slashing attacks across the enemy's Pacific supply lines, even approaching the shores of Japan itself.

As Secretary Knox sounded his high praise for the submarine commanders and their crews, official navy communiques to date disclosed that a total of 141 Japanese ships have been sunk or damaged by U. S. subs since last Dec. 7.

This figure includes 93 ships of all types sunk, 21 probably sunk and 27 damaged.

Knox made his comment about the work of American submersibles at a press conference following disclosure in Honolulu that one submarine alone accounted for more than 70,000 tons of enemy shipping, most of it off the coast of Japan.

HITLER APPEALS TO GERMANS TO HOLD AT RZHEV

Tells Commander City's Loss Would Be Equal To Loss of Half of Berlin.

and tanks leading the way for cavalry and infantry.

Figures listed in the midday communique brought to 68,250 the toll of Axis dead in the Stalingrad area alone, where some 66,000 have been reported taken prisoner. The total of dead on the central front was increased by 1,000, bringing the announced total to 23,300.

Asserting that the offensives in the two sectors of the extended wintry front "continued in the same directions as before," the Soviet authorities acknowledged that the Germans had offered resistance and had attempted counter-attacks.

"In the southern outskirts of Stalingrad, our troops repelled several enemy attacks," the communique said.

In another sector northwest of Stalingrad, "our troops dispersed enemy tanks which tried to attack our positions. Southwest of Stalingrad our troops advanced. An enemy attempt to check the advance failed."

Enemy resistance was overcome west of Moscow as the advancing Red columns occupied several inhabited but unspecified localities, the Russians claimed.

The Moscow radio asserted that Germans on the central front had received orders not to retreat 'under any circumstance.' The broadcast said that machine-gun detachments had been posted to open fire on any German units attempting to move back.

The Berlin radio quoted a German military spokesman as saying the Russians had another offensive in the making around Voronezh.

(Voronezh lies on the Don river about half way between Stalingrad and Moscow, which are 600 miles apart.)

Ninety-nine days ago the Germans laid siege to Stalingrad and two months ago Adolf Hitler proclaimed that capture of the Volga river port was certain.

Today, the remnants of the Nazi siege army that originally numbered 300,000 were all but encircled in the jaws of determined Soviet flanking movements that were less than 50 miles apart.

With land communications hampered, the Germans had to depend on supplies brought in by plane.

There was no clear picture of movement on that blizzard-swept front but the pincers tactics held threat of a possible spur thrust southward to menace the strong German base at Smolensk, with one column reported moving toward Gzhatsk.

(In Stockholm, dispatches from correspondents in Berlin quoted a German military spokesman as saying "the greatest tank battle of the war" was being fought on the central front, west of Moscow.

(He added that the situation was very grave with "a compact wall of Russian tanks pressing against our lines," the advices said.)

Nazis Claim Heavy Shipping Toll

BERLIN (FROM GERMAN BROADCASTS) — (AP) — The German high command issued a special announcement today asserting that German sea and air forces during November sank 166 ships totaling 1,035,200 tons.

(There was no confirmation of this enemy claim.)

The Berlin radio quoted authoritative sources today as stating that 157 Allied ships totaling 975,000 tons were sunk by German submarines in November.

(This enemy claim is not confirmed.)

To Relieve Bad Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

Swift Acting, and Saves Big Money. Easily Mixed.

You'll be surprised how quickly and easily you can relieve coughs due to colds, when you try this splendid recipe, mixed in your own kitchen. It gives you about four times as much cough syrup for your money, and you'll find it wonderful, for real relief.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's no trouble at all. (You can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.) Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a pint bottle. Add your syrup and you have a full pint of medicine that will amaze you by its quick action. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time, and tastes fine—children love it.

This simple mixture takes right hold of a cough. For real results, you've never seen anything better. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—(U.P.)—It was a scene reminiscent of the days when police smashed contraband liquor and let it run down the sewer.

It was officially disclosed, meanwhile, that American Liberator B-24 bombers now have gone into action in the southwest Pacific battle area.

OLD WARNING TO CLUB REVEALED

Fire Hazards Three Years Ago Cited; Given Clean Bill Only Last Week.

ing bodies revealed that three years ago Ernest J. Goulston, in a friendly letter to an employe of the club, warned of its "tinder box construction."

Goulston, a prominent Boston advertising executive, turned over to District Attorney William J. Foley a copy of the letter he wrote at that time. I stated:

"There are several things you ought to give particular attention to. Your exits are very bad. You have a tinder box construction."

Foley's state-county probe has superseded all others and he engaged in conference with heads of various state agencies while the Suffolk county grand jury remained in session ready to hear any evidence of criminal negligence which may be unearthed.

While the fire department found no inflammable objects in the club, Stanley Tomaszewski, 16-year-old busboy, has admitted it was a lighted match he inadvertently touched to an artificial palm tree which started the worst blaze in Boston's history.

While a committee was organized to prevent the busboy from becoming the "goat" of the tragedy, some chemists expressed the opinion that the paper match struck by Tomaszewski while replacing an electric light bulb removed by a "prankster" wasn't sufficient to ignite a palm tree properly treated with heat-resisting solution.

After concluding an inspection of the night club a week ago Fire Lieutenant Frank J. Linney reported:

"No inflammable decorations. Sufficient number of exits. Sufficient number of extinguishers. Condition of club good."

Efforts to save the lives of those in hospitals, horribly burned and injured, continued to tax the strength of doctors and nurses as prints were taken of the burned fingers of unidentified dead in the hope of getting identification.

There has been considerable use of blood plasma which has been credited with saving many lives. Scores of the injured, physicians fear, may develop pneumonia as a result of smoke and carbon monoxide gas inhalaton.

Among the most prominent latest deaths were Charles "Buck" Jones, the veteran cowboy movie star, and Dr. Gordon Bennett of the Boston City hospital staff, a former Harvard football captain.

to make use of their special transfers within 20 minutes after arriving at the Main street terminal or they will be charged an extra fare. This also will help to curb congestion, he said.

Columbus, Cincinnati, Dayton and Cleveland reported many gasoline stations closed for the day and bus and street car traffic up no more than four per cent.

H. V. Potts, superintendent of transportation for the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. at Columbus, said no extra equipment was needed during the morning rush hours.

"That won't come for some time," he said. "Almost everyone has a full tank. When this gas is used and the effects of the rationing program is felt, we'll experience the increase that didn't come today."

Many gasoline stations sold out their supply of gasoline yesterday in the final rush of motorists.

Other stations reported an enormous business but reported their supplies on hand were sufficient to meet the increased demands. Statistics of the day's sale were not available.

With no figures available on the combined Mansfield and Richland county registration, the gasoline panel plans to consolidate this data after opening temporary offices at room 102, Mohican building, tomorrow. Hours will be 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., with Miss Ruth Miller as office manager.

Filling station operators immediately after last midnight measured the amount of gas on hand in their tanks and were certifying this information, together with declarations of maximum capacity, unused space and other facts to the gas panel today and through Thursday.

All drivers are required to write in ink, the license number of his auto and the state in which it is registered on the back of each ration coupon.

Truck owners who have applied for but failed to receive certificates from the office of defense transportation were informed today that they should obtain temporary "T" ration slips from the Mohican building office.

Periodic tire inspection, another part of the program designed to conserve rubber, became effective today. The inspection period will extend through January 31.

Deadline for motorists to dispose of excess tires has been postponed until Dec. 12 because in some cities the Railway Express Agencies, official collection depots, were unable to meet the deluge of the last minute pickup orders.

HALTS DELIVERY OF SCHOOL MILK

Dairy Cancels Contract; OPA to Subpoena Firm's Books.

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Deliveries of bottled milk to 39 school cafeterias operated by the board of education ceased today as the milk company canceled its contract, and OPA officials said they would subpoena the company's books.

The board of education's contract with Soeder Sons Milk company, signed last June, called for an increase of one cent for one-half pint of milk, but the Office of Price Administration ruled this violated price regulations.

The company contended the board had not met its bills, only last week making a first payment on about $33,000.

mailed to every Mansfield member of the armed and auxiliary forces.

Sector post locations and reporting points for members of the various protective units have been established, Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, defense coordinator, announced today.

Zone leaders have arranged through Floyd Dent of Boy Scout headquarters and through conscription of neighbors for the distribution of pledges. Air wardens will visit every dwelling in their sector. Representatives of emergency medical units will be at every casualty and first aid station. Food and housing group workers will be at their stations. Demolition and decontamination crews will report to Service Director Fred B. Wolff for assignment.

The Drivers Corps under the direction of Mrs. O. D. Fair will distribute supplies of pledge cards to the zone leaders and sector posts from 1 to 3 p. m. Sunday.

Auxiliary police and firemen will be assigned to strategic points and district engine houses.

Members of the Victory Corps organized in Mansfield schools have been assigned to the war services division and will function along with the nutrition, salvage, consumers interests and other non-protective units.

Pledges already have been distributed to Mifflin and rural Madison township air wardens.

"Remember Pearl Harbor—and Buy Bonds" displays will be in store windows, at the request of the Retail Merchants association. The Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsoring the Pearl Harbor anniversary observance, urges stores to display photographs of employes now in service.

No blackout conditions will prevail at Sunday night's test mobilization. "The test will determine what additional manpower and womanpower is needed in the defense setup," Kalbfleisch said. "It also will aid in permanently locating strategic centers of operation."

spreading through the Italian populace, particularly as residents of the northern districts are evacuated supposedly to safer regions in central Italy.

Southern Italy faces the prospect of equally heavy air attack as soon as the African campaign is concluded.

German reaction to the Italian situation was seen in Nazi radio propaganda that Pope Pius soon might make representations to belligerent nations against the bombing of civilians—an obvious move intended to quiet Italian nerves.

The German-controlled Paris radio first broadcast a statement that the pope was expected soon to make a statement against bombing of civilians.

This was followed up by a new statement that "according to well-informed Vatican circles the pope will soon make representations to belligerents against civilian bombings."

Diplomatic quarters heard here that the outlawed Italian Socialist party, operating from underground cells inside Italy, had called on "all free and resolute Italians" for an "immediate general determined campaign of civil disobedience," designed to overthrow the Fascists.

COOKING SCHOOL SESSIONS SET

First To Be Held at Theater Thursday, Two Others on Succeeding Thursdays.

Stretching the grocery allowance and making the most of the rationed foods will be among the timely topics to be discussed by Miss Dahy Barnett, home economics specialist, at the cooking school which will open Thursday afternoon at the Ohio theater. Other sessions will be held on succeeding Thursdays, Dec. 10 and 17.

Thursday's school will start promptly at 1:30 p. m., while the theater doors will open at 1 p. m. Kitchen equipment will include Westinghouse stove, refrigerator and other appliances.

Miss Barnett, an authority from the Spry kitchen at Cambridge, Mass., will demonstrate a simple sure way to make flaky pastry, besides preparing foods from both fresh and left-over products. She will feature an entirely new demonstration and discussion program each day.

Many valuable prizes, in addition to the foods prepared on the stage, will be awarded each day to women in attendance.

The program will be followed each day by the regular matinee at no increase in price, according to the Ohio Theater management, which, with Lever Brothers, manufacturers of Spry, are sponsors of the school.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1942.

Now, more than ever, it will be necessary for the filling station attendant to know his ABCs.

"BYOS&C" may hereafter be appended to invitations—meaning, of course, "Bring your own sugar and coffee."

Here it's the first of December already—if there's some particular thing you want to give for Christmas you'd better be looking around for it.

Christmas Lights To Shine Again

WHATEVER may become later requirements for further departure from customary practices because of the war, it seems inadvisable to go further than is needed to conserve commodities essential to the war effort.

Mansfield retailers have conformed to the government's request that Christmas lighting of streets in the business district be omitted this year, but there has been no ban placed on the customary decorative lighting of homes, interior and exterior, during the Christmas season.

The lighting company gives assurance that there is no shortage of electric current in the Mansfield area and homes that have previously been specially lighted for the Christmas holidays undoubtedly have the necessary wiring and equipment available, so that the considerations of manpower and supplies do not enter.

Cheerfulness, rather than gloom, would be the wish of the boys who are away in military service for those who are at home, and letters that tell them of the bright lighting of Mansfield residential sections will carry a message of hope and encouragement, as well as assurance that everything is going along well on the home front.

Contrast In Two Highway Jobs

SPEED with which the hundreds of miles of the new Alcan highway to Alaska was built, despite what seemed unsurmountable obstacles, increases the sharp contrast presented by the unfinished condition in which the December 1 deadline finds the relatively picayunish project of eliminating the B. & O. and Erie railroad grade crossings west of Mansfield on Route 30, North.

Granted a year and a half in which to do a job that might well have been done in half that time, the contracting firm dawdled along through the months of favorable weather in both 1941 and 1942, removed equipment to other jobs, and apparently felt no concern for the inconvenience and financial losses caused by over-long closing of this important federal and state highway.

Lack of pressure by the state highway department permitted continuance of dilly-dallying tactics by the contractors during the past spring and summer, and it was not until a 90-day extention beyond the November 30 deadline was asked for that there was any appearance of effort on the part of the highway department to expedite construction.

This, it seems, came too late to result in any effective action and the outcome is that the job, which even with ordinary efficiency should have been fully completed several months ago will now lag along through another winter, and probably toward the latter part of next summer, before actual completion.

While such incidents are not uncommon to politically operated public projects it does appear that some semblance of business-like procedure should be followed in enforcing conditions of contracts. After all, it is public money that is being paid out and public inconvenience that is being caused by that sort of buck-passing.

Snow and Ice On Sidewalks

THE FIRST touch of winter, with a slushy snow Sunday and slippery footing Monday, brought rather abrupt realization that the rubber shortage and resultant gasoline restrictions will result in much more walking being done this winter than in recent years and that this will make it important to clear snow and ice from sidewalks, if injuries from falls are to be avoided.

An old city ordinance requires that this be done by 9 a. m. on days following a snowfall, but it has been a long time since any enforcement effort has been made. Icy pavements made walking dangerous yesterday in many business and residential sections of the city and unless more attention is paid to this matter, either by voluntary observance or enforcement of the city ordinance, the condition will probably become worse, instead of better, as the winter advances.

Philadelphia's Own Income Tax

SOME cities are pondering the idea of municipal income taxes and Philadelphia has actually started such a plan.

Since 1940 that city has had a tax of 1.5 per cent on earned incomes. In the past fiscal year this yielded over $21,000,000, or more than $10 apiece for every man, woman and child in the city.

A striking feature is that the tax applies to all wage earners, business and professional men who work in Philadelphia, whether they live there or not. This will appeal to many cities that think non-residents in adjoining suburbs get all the good out of city government without contributing anything to it. Annexation is out of the question, as these suburbs will never consent. Now Philadelphia has found a way to make the outsiders share city taxes.

Humble Friends of America

SPEAKING of the prestige which American power and friendliness are now winning throughout the world, there is a story told about the reception of the first marines who landed on the Solomon Islands to oust the Japanese. The natives were gathered on the beach to welcome them. And the first words uttered on that historic occasion were those of their chief: "Americans! Me American too!"

All the natives in those far-flung islands of the Pacific seem to be good Americans now, just as the Africans are, regardless of tribal organization or official allegiance. They have no fear of us and will stand with us against the Japanese or any other aggressor, as long as we continue to give them a square deal and to recognize, despite their reputed barbarism, that "a man's a man, for a' that."

Word comes that an Alaska woman gave up an OPA job "because the salary was too large for the work required of her"—but the rumor hasn't been confirmed, so don't faint.

Latest to pass around: "It looks as if the Italian boot may soon lose its big heel."

THE HOUR OF DECISION

Darlan's Help Valuable to U. S.

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—It is difficult for those who have been critics of the New Deal on so many counts to understand the carping which has been going on because the government chose to make use of Admiral Darlan. It has come from so many quarters, this criticism of playing ball with Darlan, and it has actually caused a great deal of concern.

The whole question seems to boil down to this—would America be willing to sacrifice a good many thousand American boys — send them against cannon and machine guns unnecessarily — in order to punish a man whom we are inclined to think should be punished?

Mind you, the words "inclined to think" are used advisedly. We do not KNOW. Maybe Darlan is not guilty as charged for his actions in the past. Probably he is. Certainly if he has any real friends or admirers in the administration in Washington it is difficult to find them.

BUT—the use of Darlan has been one of the greatest coups in the entire war. It was much more important, actually, than the use by Germany of Quisling in Norway proved to be. Few observers doubt that the Nazi would have succeeded in Norway without Quisling. He was a very unimportant cog in that successful invasion.

Speeded Conquest.

It may be said that the use of the Quislings in Norway saved the Nazis much valuable time. Undoubtedly it saved them a LITTLE time. But the British were not able to take advantage of the time they had, and had the time been a little longer the extreme probability is that the British losses in Norway would have been more tragic. They might have approached Dunkirk.

The criticism of the use of Darlan is very much of a piece with the criticism of anti-Soviet people in this country against trusting Stalin. The answer on both counts is that when anybody, anywhere, is willing to help us strike a blow at Germany, or Japan, there is no sound logic against using that person, whatever his economic beliefs or past performance.

Since school days we have reviled Benedict Arnold, yet even in the bitterest anti-British quarters one has never heard the British criticized for attempting to make use of him against us. The answer has always been that it was war. Well, this happens to be a war that we are engaged in right now, and if Darlan can help us, we should not worry about his moral turpitude in the past.

People Must Decide.

Some of the criticism—and it has cropped up in the British house of commons—has been because this seemed to many a betrayal of our friends, of Gen. De Gaulle in particular. It just happens that we are supposed to believe in democracy. It is not WE who are to decide who are to rule France, but the French people.

There can be no election in France now. After the war the French can be depended on to do what THEY think is the best thing. They can throw Darlan in the ashcan. Or they can erect a monument to him. They have the same choice about Gen. De Gaulle and a lot of other people.

Certainly none of the present critics would have us say to the French that WE are going to select their leaders for them. And by the same token no Frenchman with any semblance of leadership has done so much to hurt Germany as has this hitherto disposed Admiral Darlan. Not in all the months that have passed since September, 1939.

Find Peace Now

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

A STRANGE thing has come over many of us these days. We're not afraid, we're not indifferent. But our spirits seem to be living in a state of "suspended animation." Actually we have surrendered to the war as surely as if we were captives in some concentration camp.

Some day peace will come, say we. And when it does, we will start to live again. We'll laugh, we'll be eager and excited. We'll make plans and seek adventures. But, until that time comes, we're drifting. Leading busy but meaningless lives.

Yes, a strange thing has come over us. Happiness and hope were such easy habits once. Such simple things gave most of us joy. The broken, jeweled lights that splattered city pavements on a rainy night. The tug of a trout on the end of a line. The comfort of a quiet room, a book, a pipe. The sound of children laughing with a yapping pup. The smell of hearty food. The work we loved.

These brought us peace, once on a time. But now we've put our peace away "for the duration." We think we cannot feel that old content again while all the world is coiled in war.

We're wrong. Our minds are sick. If ever we needed peace, we need it now. And we can find it as surely here and now as we ever could—if we will look for it. For peace was never a matter of outer circumstance. It was a condition of the soul . . . the only healthy condition of the soul.

And we must have peace. It is a fundamental necessity. We cannot function normally without it. War days are grim days. But they are as vital a part of our life as any other days. A wasted war day robs your life as surely as a wasted day of normal harmony. No matter what may come next year, you have only one chance to live today and that is N-O-W.

There's no use waiting "for the duration" to set your mind and heart in order. We're kidding ourselves when we speak of "peace after the war." What we need is peace today . . . the old enjoyment of the simple, natural things even though the guns boom across the horizon.

And that old, familiar peace is waiting for us where it always waited . . . in the simple things around us. Peace hasn't deserted us. We have deserted it. We have forgotten it in our greedy grab at fame and wealth, power and excitement. The war isn't responsible.

The rain still strews its shattered jewels upon the city streets. The cowbells still come jangling through the autumn dusk. The poplars quiver in liquid flame against the forest dark. The trout still lurk beneath the pool in the old creek. There's still comfort and healing in a quiet room, a book, a pipe, a piano. Only you have changed.

CHANGE BACK!

Turn your face toward the simple life you once knew and loved. Keep current — but stop racing. Take a portion of your freshbaked cake to the new and lonely neighbor next door. Stop and look at the little plant which is budding by your path, as it has budded through a million years of war. Pat that puppy . . . play with that baby . . . read the news to that sick old man across the street. Stop surrendering to war.

Don't wait "through the duration" to find your old faith and contentment. Don't live suspended in a nightmare of horror and fear and hate. Peace is here. All around you. Take it. Use it. Share it.

FIND YOUR PEACE NOW.

Interpreting the War News

United Drive Against Japan Will Follow Defeat of Axis In Europe

—By LOUIS F. KEEMLE

NOVEMBER ended with the news still good from all fronts, rounding out a month which Prime Minister Winston Churchill pointed out was filled with good news.

Although he warned against over-optimism and disclaimed any attempt to make prophecies, the prime minister went as far as statesman-like caution permits in outlining the probable course of the war.

He did not say so directly, but his implication was plain that he thinks the war in Europe will be won before the one in the Pacific. Then, he promised, while peace preliminaries are in progress, Britain will join in full force with the United States to settle accounts with Japan.

In the latter task, the two Allies will be aided by China and not inconceivably by Russia. While Russia is still going through an exhausting war which is draining its resources of men and material, the Soviet union has interests at stake in the Pacific which are likely to prompt it to stabilize its position with regard to Japan permanently while the opportunity exists.

THE United States at present is holding Japan almost single-handed, and doing a good job of it. If Hitler is disposed of in Europe and the Allied fleets, air forces and armies freed for concentrated action against Japan, the war in the Pacific would assume an entirely new complexion.

This possible shaping of the war has been forecast before by observers in this country and in England. They became convinced of it when President Roosevelt sent an A. E. F. to Africa, indicating a determination to clean up in Europe instead of concentrating solely in the Pacific.

The reasons for Churchill's optimism are obvious. First, there is the turn of the tide in Russia. The Germans are on the defensive on a front that now extends from north of Moscow to the Caucasus. They are tied up there and unable to muster their full force to meet the Allied threat to Southern Europe, or any other threat the Allies may present.

Then the news from Africa continues good. The Axis so far has been unable to show preponderance in the air. It is having the greatest difficulty getting reinforcements and supplies across the Mediterranean as Allied submarines, surface ships and airplanes send its transports to the bottom.

Thirdly, there is the matter of general air superiority. The Luftwaffe is regarded by London experts as dwindling in power, while the air forces of the United Nations are growing. Churchill declared that the combined air forces of Britain, the United States and Russia are already much larger than those of the Axis.

A fourth reason for Churchill's optimism is his evident hope that the Italian people can be persuaded to get out of the war. Failing that, he apparently believes that after Africa is completely occupied, the Allies will be able to knock Italy out as a preliminary to the final assault on Germany.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

(First of two articles on enemy propaganda in the U. S.)

WASHINGTON—There are several wartime agencies in the government whose duty it is to worry about Axis propaganda in this country. Oddly, United Nations successes in Africa and the Pacific have brought greater worries than since the war started.

In recent weeks Berlin and Rome short wave broadcasts have quadrupled their efforts to make Great Britain and the United States in particular and all the other United Nations in general suspicious of each other. This has happened almost simultaneously with United Nations successes on the Russian, African and Pacific fronts and apparently a reaction in many quarters is that it will be all right now to relax for a while.

I might add that although it is not correspondingly as important, many Washington commentators — your own included — have received a number of letters recently saying that the last election should be "a warning to warmongers in the capital that this country doesn't want any part of these foreign wars."

* * *

THE unfortunate part of this is, according to government specialists here, that it has come just at the moment when there has been some unfortunate division in the United Nations over certain manipulations, public relations, and future aims.

I think perhaps it is time for a little debunking.

To get rid of the chatter "that the election was a reprimand to 'warmongers'," run over the complete list of the men elected. If there was one elected on anything but a "win the war first" platform, Washington hasn't heard of him.

* * *

THEN there is the story that we are losing this war in the Pacific and that the navy hasn't been telling the truth about what is going on there.

Grant that the navy hasn't hastened out with every item regarding some of our misfortunes; still the story is as leaky as a wire basket.

For proof, you can ignore our own communiques and go directly to the Japs. The Jap radio lies so fast that it frequently trips over its own falsehoods, but not since the fall of Burma and the Dutch East Indies have the Japs made any claims to gains of new territory and they have admitted our important recapture of portions of those vital bases in the Solomons.

(Next article: Debunking the "it's all over" story.)

Timely Editorial

Censorship Suggestion.

We could almost hope that the censor keeps from the men at the battle front the whining we are hearing about the rationing of gasoline. The sight of a bloc of oil state congressmen battling till the last minute for escape from this awful scourge, with the inference that they would not be that way if their constituents were not, is calculated to make the boys want to lay off Hitler and the Japanese and take a shot at the softling folks at home.

They might not realize, as the folks at home can and do, that these gripings are the noise of the few frogs which make the uninitiated listener suppose the world is made up of frogs. There was never the slightest possibility that the gripers would rule. Gas rationing, for the help of the men in the armies, will go forward and the people will cheerfully accept it, glad to make this small sacrifice where others make so great a sacrifice.

We could hope the racket made by the noisier few who can't take it may be kept from our soldiers' ears.—Springfield News.

Man About Manhattan

Farewell to Friends

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—A lot of farewells are being said these days. One of mine the other day was to Anna Neagle and Herbert Wilcox. I've been in their company often enough to feel they are quite good friends of mine, but regardless. I think that anyone who has met this clear-eyed blond film star and the serious, courtly man who directs most of her pictures will agree that they are two of the best good will ambassadors Great Britain has had in this country. One reason, maybe, is that they weren't here to be good will ambassadors.

The farewells were said over cocktails at the "21," with many wishes to the two for a safe journey, but none of the old pip-pip and cheerio. Anna has crossed the Atlantic on a troopship, in the past, but in the close-mouthed tradition of the day nothing was said about when, where or how this trip would be made.

It was a small, friendly group, most of them being newspaper people, which calls for an aside. The first time Anna came to this country she was warned that American newspaper people were ogres who would crucify her at the slightest excuse, but she lived to count them among her friends and the feeling is mutual. Others were there, too, including tall, lean Godfrey Haggard, British consul general, who is another good will ambassador without intending to be one. His accent is the real McCoy, and his humor is dry and delightful.

ANNA, who is of a seafaring family with two brothers in the British Navy during this war, would like to go into British naval service but is afraid they would make her a "front woman," which is to say, a celebrity who would focus attention on the service. She doesn't want that, so very likely will make another film. A war-thriller story is ready, which would be something new for Anna who began as a dancer, switched to musical comedy, then turned to heavy drama. One of her recent leading men was pulled in off a British mine sweeper. This time she hopes her leading man can be Major David Niven of the Commandos — if he isn't booked up with too many raids.

MUSIC lovers are exulting over the New Opera company's production of "Rosalinda," which you may remember as "Die Fledermaus" or "The Bat," with music by one Johann Strauss. This is one of the happiest shows to turn up in months, and its success no doubt traces back to the experimental light opera revivals of last summer in Carnegie hall. I was a little disappointed that John Pierce didn't have a hand in staging "Rosalinda." Johnny staged the Carnegie hall shows on short notice and with what looked like about $10 worth of scenery, and the revivals ran twice as long as expected. He deserved a shot at a real production. But there is no complaint with "Rosalinda." It is two hours of solid enjoyment, without a jitterbug in sight.

A Farmer's Diary

Rationing Gasoline

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I HELPED to ration gasoline . . . three afternoons and evenings the ration books were given out at the public school. Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts took turns guiding patrons in to where the registrars were waiting. These youngsters, with their avid interest in service, set a good example for all the older folk.

Applicants were undisturbed, and when the business was finished, most of them thanked us as they left. Some men said they would not have enough, at four gallons weekly, to get to their work—some cars averaged less than 15 miles per gallon, the base for reckoning. In such a case, we gave a large application blank to be filled out and presented to the county board. With this blank there was hope for a better deal than we were permitted to give.

Individual rights were sacrificed. Five tires were the limit, and if any car owner had more, no ration book was forthcoming until the excess tires were disposed of, and records of the transaction presented.

No one would drive for pleasure—gas and rubber must be used for a purpose that would aid in winning the war. Pleasureable outings might be undertaken—on foot. Coffee, meat, milk, eggs and fruits will soon be rationed, and there will still be no complaint from those who will get along with less so that our armed forces may have more and fight with greatest endurance.

And why is the average citizen satisfied? The worker pounding spikes and ramming ties on the railroad, the miner with rough hands and swarthy face, the night watchman and the chimney sweep, is rationed for necessities in the same way as the manager of industry, the banker, and the landlord. This war is less a respecter of persons than any other has ever been. Homes of wealth have their service stars as do humble cottages. Perhaps when the clean white painted crosses are counted in some foreign fields, no single mound will claim a richer, greener spot of earth.

WANTS SCRAP TO HELP FATHER

CINCINNATI —(INS)— With a wish that his contribution would get to his father in the form of a bomb or a part of a plane, William H. Kenney, Dayton, added to the scrap pile on the University of Cincinnati campus.

His father, Major General George C. Kenney, is in command of the United Nations' air forces in the Southwest Pacific. Young Kenney, who is enrolled in the college of liberal arts pre-medical course at the university, has been busy with scrap collecting. He regards his scrap collecting as help for his fighting father from the home front. The university's pile weighs more than 150,000 pounds.

TO HELP YOU
BUDGET YOUR SPENDING

Here's the Government's own plan for the new army of Budgeteers on the Home Front.

AMERICA needs an army of budgeteers—an army of men and women who will budget their spending for the duration. In this war so much depends on what each family does with its money. "On the home front you can tell where you stand," says the Government, "not by looking at a map stuck with thumbtacks but by looking at your budget."

Won't you enlist in this army? Won't you help to win on the home front by having a financial plan and sticking to it? Won't you encourage others to practice budgeting by proving with your own example that it can be done?

Here's a budget plan that works

So important is the way you spend your money that the Government has published a budget plan to help you. Here is one budget plan that really works. It comes—not from theorists—but from the actual experience of men and women with money problems like your own. Already this plan is helping thousands of families to make better use of their dollars. We would like to see thousands of others benefit from the plan. So we have reprinted it exactly as published by the Government and will gladly send you a free copy.

No tedious bookkeeping

Have you been wondering how to buy your share of war bonds, cut down your debts, set aside funds to pay your income tax, and still have enough left to buy the right food, clothing and living conditions for your family? This plan can help you meet such a problem—can help you to avoid running short between paydays and to provide cash for future expenses.

This Government budget plan requires no tedious bookkeeping. It doesn't ask you to put yourself in a financial strait-jacket. Yet it makes sure that you allow for all the expenses that have to come out of each pay check—that you plan the best way to spend your money before you spend it.

Get the plan without obligation

To help you become a budgeteer we will gladly send you the Government's plan and a copy of our Budget Calendar. This handy workbook, published to help people budget their spending, provides just what you need to put the Government's plan to work for you. It contains worksheets for every payday in the year.

Why don't you send the coupon for the Government plan and the Budget Calendar right now? Or you may obtain both booklets at the local Household Finance office (see your telephone book for address). There will be no solicitation or follow-up.

FORMAL INSTALLATION SERVICE HELD MONDAY

Officers of Ruth Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, Take Oath in Impressive Ceremony; Rainbow Girls Participate in Program.

AGAINST AN ATTRACTIVE background that included a rainbow, a basket of chrysanthemums and palms, the formal installation of officers of Ruth chapter, Order of Eastern Star, took place in the Masonic temple last evening. Mrs. Hiram Hoffman is the new worthy matron and R. Willis James is the worthy patron.

Others who will serve during the coming year are Mrs. Anita McAninch, associate matron; Claude M. Hunter, associate patron; Mrs. Sara B. Ford, secretary; Mrs. Margaret Casperson, treasurer; Mrs. Mary Anglin conductress, Mrs. Gertrude Kerr, associate conductress, Mrs. Louise Ruhl, chaplain; Mrs. Belva Buchanan marshall; Miss Dorothea Rogers, pianist; Mrs. Nellie Hilligoss, warder Mrs. Virgil Hartman sentinel; Star Points: Ada, Miss Dorothy Smith Ruth, Mrs Ruth Vaughn Esther Mrs Olive Pankow Martha Miss Willadale Patterson and Electa Miss Dorothy Crawford soloist Mrs Margaret Brower.

The officers were attired in the chapter colors of blue and gold. The following were in charge of the ceremony; installing officer, Mrs Thelma Hartman, marshal Mrs Miriam Gross; chaplain, Miss Pearl Wierman; pianists, Miss Ruth Dye and Miss Elizabeth Burneson soloist, Mrs Brower. Acting officers for the installation were Ethel Rains, worthy matron; Mrs Laura Brubaker, marshal, Mrs Norma Miller, conductress, and Mrs. Delores Lamneck, warder.

At the conclusion of the formal service the Order of Rainbow Assembly for Girls staged a lovely rainbow ceremony and presented a pot-of-gold to the new worthy matron. The gold theme was carried out because the chapter will celebrate its 50th anniversary next year. Jewels were presented by the chapter to the junior past matron and past patron. The worthy patron, Mr. James, presented Mrs. Hoffman with a gavel made from Arizona ironwood. The handle was fashioned from a piece of timber from the spire of the First Congregational church, and the engraved band is from Colorado silver.

Serving on the reception committee were Mrs Ruth Keefe, Miss Thelma Hursh and Miss Hazel Zellner. Visitors were present from Shelby, Shiloh, Galion, Crestline, Bellville, Mt Gilead, McCutcheonsville, and Verasilles. Next meeting of the chapter will take place on Dec 7.

Florence Conn Is Guest Speaker For Study Club

Guest speaker for the Monday Study club, which met at the home of Mrs. Dwight Wen, Parkwood boulevard, was Miss Florence Conn, who spoke on "Religion and Colleges in Ohio." Mrs. Lowell Bourns was associate hostess.

The first part of Miss Conn's talk dealt with different religious sects, settling in Ohio and from what places they branched out into other communities. As a matter of local interest, she mentioned that there are 54 churches in Mansfield.

The second part of the talk was a discussion of institutions of higher learning in Ohio. Of these, many are denominational. She gave a brief historical outline of 31 colleges. In conclusion she explained how colleges are striving to make adjustments now to gear them to the total war effort.

Luncheon was served buffet style with Mrs. George Gaalaas presiding. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. C. H Bell, Dickson parkway, Dec. 14, with Mrs Paul Weir as associate hostess.

FIESTA THEME USED FOR DINNER PARTY

Mary Voegele Society Sponsors Novel Mission Study Meeting at St. Matthew's Lutheran Church Monday Evening.

A SOUTH AMERICAN fiesta was the theme of the mission study class meeting sponsored last evening by the Mary Voegele society of St. Matthew's Lutheran church. Flower girls greeted the guests at the entrance to the church parlors and presented each woman with a blossom for her hair, and each man with a boutonniere for his lapel. Spanish food was served at tables attractively decorated with appointments which combined the national colors of South America and the United States. Green, white and red were carried out in crepe paper streamers on the tables and in tapers. A large cornucopia containing colored gourds was the centerpiece.

Toastmistress for the occasion was the president, Mrs. William Mabee. Songs presented by Harry Heier were "the B a n d e l e r o," "Gypsy Love Song," "I Heard a Forest Praying," and "Neapolitan Love Song. His accompanists were his daughter, Marilyn, and Mrs. Robert Myers. There was an interesting round table discussion on "Pan-American Fellowship," in which members answered questions written on the back of their place cards.

General chairman for the party was Mrs. P. H. Woodard. There were approximately 50 members and guests in attendance. The next meeting will be held Dec. 7 at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Greer on Parkview street.

man-style soup now easy!
1. Just empty package into boiling water . . . add butter, simmer.
2. Then pour your delicious savory home-cooked soup into six generous sized bowls.
I can just see your husband beaming over this soup. Real man-style soup. Rich flavored, and so very satisfying.
Fresh vegetable flavors! Tomatoes, carrots, celery, onions, sweet bell peppers, spinach, parsley. All these vegetables in flake form, "dehydrated" (this process of removing moisture, while the vegetables are fresh, retains garden flavors).
Delightful seasonings, too. And rich egg noodles made from Gold Medal Durum Flour. Enough ingredients in every package for six large bowlfuls! A thrifty soup, easy to make, and so delectable. My staff and I recommend this product to you. Won't you try it?
